Says U.S. Will Help Refugees

Resettlement Not Florida Job Alone

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The federal government has pledged that the nation — and not Florida alone — will help resettle refugees from Cuba.

More than 300 arrived at Key West Monday and 11 more boats were on their way.

Job for Whole Country

"The President and federal departments are particularly concerned that the whole country take up this problem," said John Gardner, secretary of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

He told a news conference: "The citizens of Florida have made tremendous contributions and Florida must not be asked to carry the burden alone."

In Washington, an informed source said a U. S.-Cuban agreement on a plan to fly refugees to Florida probably would be announced today.

Gardner said plans are to fly out between 3,000 and 4,000 refugees monthly.

Gardner and Buford Ellington, representing President Johnson, met Monday with Florida political and civic leaders, including congressmen, mayors and a representative of Gov. Haydon Burns.

Gardner said the refugees would be quickly resettled in other parts of the United States.

He said the new influx would not be comparable "to the first flood" in 1959.

He repored that refugees brought to Miami after clearing customs would "be on their way in 48 hours" if they can be resettled.

Negro Jobless High

"The Miami rate of unemployment is below the average but Negro unemployment is far too high and we must cope with it," said Gardner.

Some refugees arriving at Key West said they had heard they were resented in this country.

"I am told that Americans resent our presence here," said Senora Mercedes Muniz de Capote. "If they knew what we go through they might understand."

Opening Planned This Month for West Hurley Bank

The National Bank of Orange and Ulster Counties has been granted a federal charter from the Comptroller of Currency to open a branch bank in West Hurley, bank headquarters in Goshen announced today.

The West Hurley branch will be located in the building adjacent to Mason's general store and Langer's Pharmacy on Route 375.

Official Opening Later

Bank officials said the new branch would be open to the public during the latter part of November. An official opening date will be announced. The West Hurley branch is the fifth to be opened by the parent bank.

Other branch banks of the Bank of Orange and Ulster Counties are located at Woodstock, Rosendale, Unionville and Pine Island. A sixth branch is due to be opened in the near future at Scotchtown.

Richard Gibbs, a resident of West Hurley, who has been assistant cashier at the Woodstock bank for the past 10 years, will be the officer in charge at the West Hurley branch.

Surveys recently conducted by bank officials and representatives of the Comptroller of Currency indicated the need and expressed desire for banking facilities in the West Hurley area. Results of the survey showed a consistent growth potential sufficent to warrant the granting of a charter to a banking institution that would provide complete banking services for people in the area.

Among Six Oldest in State

Chartering of the West Hurley branch is another step in the continuing expansion policy of the Bank of Orange and Ulster Counties. A full service bank, it was founded in 1812 and is listed among the six oldest banks in New York State.

The Woodstock bank was established nearly 14 years ago and recently purchased a large tract of land adjacent to its present premises as part of its expansion program.

Hanoi Regulars, Among 118 Reds Killed, Seized by Yanks

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. combat troops reported 92 Communist guerrillas killed and 26 captured in fighting in central Viet Nam today and Monday.

Men of the 1st Air Cavalry Division, who arrived in Viet Nam only seven weeks ago, fought three engagements against an enemy force of between 500 and 600 men near the U.S. Special Forces camp at Plei Me, 210 miles north of Saigon.

Pickup 26 Suspects

The airborne cavalrymen reported they killed 88 of the enemy, captured 26 others and picked up 26 suspects. A U.S. spokesman said North Vietnamese regulars were among those killed and captured.

There was no word on American casualties.

The Plei Me camp underwent a week-long seige before the Communists were routed last week. The cavalrymen have been hunting down Viet Cong and North Vietnamese in the area since then.

The Viet Cong attacked an outpost near Qui Nhon, on the coast 260 miles north of Saigon, but a U.S. spokesman said paratroopers of the 101st Airborne Division fought off the assault and killed four Viet Cong. The Americans suffered light casualties, the spokesman said.

Recon Pilot Rescued

In the northernmost sea rescue of the war, Capt. Norman P. Huggins of Mullins, S.C., was picked up after his plane was hit by conventional ground fire over a Communist surface-to-air missile site 35 miles northeast of Hanoi, a military spokesman reported.

Huggins headed out over the South China Sea and bailed out 57 miles east of Haiphong, North Viet Nam's major port. He spent an hour in a life raft before he was rescued by a plane piloted by Capt. David P. Westenbarger of Fairfield, Ohio.

During the rescue, two U.S. dive bombers shot up a North Vietnamese sampan that was heading for the downed man and firing machine guns at him. Huggins was reported in good condition.

Huggins was on a photo-reconnaissance mission over three SAM launching sites which U.S. planes attacked Sunday. Pilots after the strikes said they left one site in ruins, knocked the

Murder Cases Are Listed on Busy Court Calendar

Faced with a criminal calendar of 109 cases, County Judge Raymond J. Mino on Monday said that he would continue the November term of court until the criminal calendar had been cleared up. Cases marked ready for trial, Judge Mino announced, would be called in the order in which they appear on the calendar and disposed of in that order.

Judge Mino announced that attorneys in "ready" cases should hold themselves in readiness and dispose of their cases when reached in the regular order.

In order to reduce the heavy calendar of criminal cases, Judge Mino announced he would continue the November term through December and January if necessary, using the jurors summoned for Supreme Court trial terms.

Marlboro Case First

First on the calendar is the first degree murder case charging Oscar Anderson, 40, Marlboro cooler employe, with the shooting of Mrs. Georgia Mae Lester, 26, on April 11, 1965. The case was announced ready except for a psychiatric examination of the defendant which will delay the trial. Harry Gold appears for defendant.

The next 15 cases were announced ready and counsel was alerted to stand ready for trial when their case was reached.

Veteran Case on Docket

Two other first degree murder cases, Richard Lawrence Tyte, 15, Whittier, and Raymond Joseph Frisbie, 16, of Veteran, charged with the fatal shooting of George Joseph Brennan, 26, of Route 5, Saugerties, and the attempted murder of Joseph Vertitis, 26, of Saugerties, last October 1, are listed as 27th and 28th on the calendar.

Sam Averhart, 30, an employee at the Stanley Orchard Farm, Modena, charged with striking 19-year-old James Louis Cook on the head with a wooden table leg last Aug. 12, entered a plea of guilty to third degree assault. James Myers appeared by assignment for defendant. Imposition of sentence was adjourned to Nov. 16 at 10 a. m. for a pre-sentence probation report. Averhart allegedly clubbed

Saugerties Plans Parade to Back U.S. Viet Policy

A proposal to parade in support of U. S. policy in Viet Nam on Veterans Day, Nov. 11 received the full support and approval of Saugerties Village Board Monday night.

The parade will be in conjunction with other Veterans Day programs scheduled by the local American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars.

To Announce Details

Mrs. Arthur DeCelle, president of Saugerties Memorial Post 5034, VFW Auxiliary presented the request to the board. As arrangements are formulated details for the observance will be announced. The program of Lamouree-Hacket Post 72, American Legion will include the burning of old and soiled American flags in special ceremony at 7:30 p. m. The VFW Post in cooperation with the local Young Americans for Freedom group is sponsoring the showing of an anti-communist film at 8:30 p. m.

Bergin, recommended by State Police BCI Investigator Richard I. Ryan, passed the New York City partolman's civil service test prior to moving into this area.

A letter from County Superintendent of Highways Roland Green regarding snow removal from state highways within the village, indicated that it cost the county $150 per hour for men and equipment to accomplish the work in the village. The letter prompted a meeting between Trustee Maurice Clements,

Capture Brink Suspect

Another Charged, Cannon Recovered

NEW YORK (AP) — In swift developments, the FBI arrested one man in the $400,000 Brink's burglary in Syracuse, N.Y., charged another still at large and recovered the cannon used to blast open the vault.

Jack Frank, 33, of Freeport, N.Y., taken into custody by federal agents, was to be arraigned today before a U. S. commissioner in Brooklyn.

His nephew, Joel Singer, 22, of Chomedy, Que., is being sought in the burglary 10 days ago.

They were charged in Albany, N.Y., with conspiracy to violate the statute on interstate transportation of stolen property. The FBI also charged Singer with a violation of the federal firearms act in connection with the transportation of a 20mm antitank gun from Quebec to Syracuse.

The FBI said that it had recovered, with the aid of the Navy and Coast Guard, the antitank gun used in the burglary from waters near the Meadowbrook Parkway bridge to Jones Beach on Long Island.

The developments were announced Monday night in Washington, D.C., by FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover, who said laboratory experts positively identified the cannon as the one used in the burglary.

Police said the Brink's building in Syracuse was broken into the weekend of Oct. 23-24 and thieves fired at least 30 rounds from a 20mm cannon to blast open the vault.

The thieves made off with $416,028 from the vault, including $160,774 in cash and $255,254 in checks.

Frank, a bachelor and a mechanic on Long Island, was arrested Monday night in Garden City, then taken to the FBI office in Manhattan for fingerprinting and other processing He was lodged in the Federal House of Detention.

Federal agents said Singer,

Will Elect Supervisors In County, Mayor in City

Voters in Kingston's 13 wards and the county's 20 townships march to the polls today under sunny skies. Temperatures were brisk in the 40's. The polls close at 9 tonight.

Kingston voters at the local level will elect 13 supervisors, 13 aldermen, a mayor, alderman-at-large and city judge.

To Name Town Officials

The 20 townships in the county will elect supervisors, town clerks and other town officers.

On the county level, voters will elect a state senator for the 43rd District embracing Ulster; a member of State Assembly; surrogate, sheriff, and coroner.

Ulster County voters in the Towns of Rochester, Wawarsing, Shawangunk and Gardiner in the 110th Assembly District with Sullivan County will also elect an assemblyman.

On the state line voters will ballot for an associate judge of the Court of Appeals and a justice of the Supreme Court.

13 Proposals

The electorate will also vote on three propositions, one question and nine amendments to the State Constitution.

Voters who will study this long list of proposals have three minutes to make up their minds in the voting booth.

Early turnouts indicate that voting today may be comparable to that of a presidential year in many parts of the state.

Board of Election records show that registration increased by more than 2400 in the 220 towns of the county. However, these records also show a drop of 495 below the 1963 total in the City of Kingston.

69,038 Registered

A total of 69,038 registered, compared with 67,055 in 1963.

The Associated Press roundup described the New York City mayoralty contest as nip-and-tuck and a wide interest in legislative battles throughout the state.

Early, spot reports of voting took a wide range, however—from "very slow" in Buffalo to "light" or "generally good" in other areas to "heavy" in Schenectady County, parts of Albany, parts of Syracuse and vicinity, and in New York City.

"It's been much heavier than any of us expected," said a poll official in Manhattan.

A statewide turnout of about 6½ million was predicted.

Other early reports in an Associated Press survey included: Utica, medium to heavy; Gloversville, very heavy, heavier than last year's; Johnstown, ahead of last year's; Ithaca, better than expected and generally good; Nassau and Suffolk counties, heavy for off-presidential year; Norwich, normal; Poughkeepsie, light; Corning, heavy for off-year.

Stakes Are Big

The big stakes were political command of the nation's largest city and majority rule of the patronage-rich Legislature. The Democrats' grip on both was shaky.

Republican John V. Lindsay was an even bet to nose out Democrat Abraham D. Beame in the New York mayoral race and catapult himself into the 1968 GOP presidential picture. No Republican has won the mayor's job since Fiorello LaGuardia, in the 1940's.

At the state level, GOP and Democratic leaders agreed privately that Republicans probably would recapture at least the Senate — and had the potential to take both. Democrats were conceded a bare edge in the Assembly, however.

For the Democratic Party, loss of either the mayoralty or the Legislature would be a stunning blow. Loss of both would be a political disaster, reducing its power domain to near-zero.

Lindsay Vote Key

The fate of the two power bases appeared linked in today's election. A strong or weak run by Lindsay in the Democratic stronghold could influence several close races for seats in the Legislature.

Republicans hoped Lindsay would show the kind of coattail pulling power displayed by President Johnson last year when Democrats won control of both houses of the Legislature.

The GOP looked for a similar effect Upstate from the presence of former U.S. Sen. Kenneth B. Keating on the ballot. Keating headed the GOP ticket as the candidate for associate judge of the State Court of Appeals, running against Democrat Owen McGivern, a justice of the State Supreme Court, the Keating-McGivern contest was regarded as a toss-up.

13 Other Questions

Besides balloting for numerous city, county and other local offices, New York voters were confronted by 13 questions on

1966 Cars Will Be on Uptown Display Nov. 6

New 1966 automobiles will be shown in Uptown Kingston Saturday, Nov. 6 in a promotion arranged by the Uptown Business Men's Association and the Kingston Automobile Dealers Association.

Approximately 50 automobiles will be displayed on Wall Street between John and North Front Streets all day Saturday, according to Edward Franz, president of the Automobile Dealers group.

The block will be closed to vehicular traffic during the time of the show, as it was during the highly successful antique auto show in August.

Exhibiting dealers include: Albany Avenue Garage, Inc., Bob Beaumont, Inc., Kingston Buick, Co., Inc., DeWitt Cadillac-Oldsmobile, Inc., J. H. Byrne, Chevrolet Corp., DeMicco Motors, Inc., Parsons of Kingston, Inc., Franz Rambler Sales, Inc., Old Capital Motors, Inc., Jerry Martin Pontiac, Inc., and Port Ewen Garage.

Watch Today's Vote for Clue On 1966 and 1968 Elections

WASHINGTON (AP) — New Jersey, Virginia and a half-dozen Eastern and Midwestern cities — including New York, Philadelphia and Cleveland — hold the spotlight in scattered off-year election balloting today.

In most of them, Republicans are trying to supplant Democratic office-holders. The results will be watched closely for possible portents for the 1966 congressional and 1968 presidential elections.

Most Interest in N.Y.

Most interest has centered on New York City. An estimated 2.5 million of the city's 3.6 million eligible voters are expected to decide a hotly contested mayor's race between Democratic City Comptroller Abraham D. Beame and Rep. John V. Lindsay, a Republican running with Liberal party backing at the head of a fusion ticket.

Straw polls indicate a close vote. The race is complicated by the presence of a third candidate, author-publisher William F. Buckley Jr., the Conservative party nominee.

Democrats are favored to capture both governor's contests. In New Jersey, Democratic Gov. Richard J. Hughes, 56, is expected to defeat GOP State Sen. Wayne Dumont Jr., 51, while in Virginia Democratic Lt. Gov. Mills E. Godwin Jr., 50, is rated a probable victor over Republican A. Linwood Holton, 42, and Conservative party nominee William J. Story, 55.

Republicans are making strong bids for mayor of Cleveland, Ohio, and district attorney of Philadelphia. Other important mayoral elections are in Detroit; Louisville, Ky.; and Akron, Ohio.

3 Elect Legislatures

New Jersey, Virginia and New York are electing legislatures, while Kentucky is filling some seats. In the only congressional contest, Republican Clarence J. Brown Jr., 38, is favored to capture the Ohio 7th District seat held for many years by his late father. Brown's Democratic opponent is James A. Berry, 35.

Reach Agreement On Reduced Costs At Paltz School

Negotiations between student government association officials and representatives of the State University College, New Paltz have led to an agreement this morning for reduced prices in the food service and the bookstore.

New prices will go into effect beginning next January.

Meeting Set Wednesday

A meeting was held Monday between the student government and college officials at which an agreement was reached concerning student representation in the college corporation. Further discussion of the college corporation will be conducted Wednesday 5 p. m. at a meeting of the Student Senate, executive board, and representatives of the dormitories, at which time the board of directors of the college corporation will be present.

Prices Criticized

On Oct. 26 the Department of Audit and Control in Albany said State University students at New Paltz, Albany and the University of Buffalo were being overcharged for food and books.

Department auditors said food charges at the three schools could be reduced 10 to 20 per cent — a saving of up to $500 per student over four years of college, the Associated Press story said.

The price of text books "should also be reduced materially," the department said. It said the price situation varied widely among the three institutions.

Cites Excessive Profits

The state auditors contended that the associations were making excessive profits, were not subject to adequate controls by the central administration of the State University or other agencies of state geovernment and utilized state personnel and fa-

Kingston Records 26 Low; Upstate Is Even Colder

There might be some hot political issues and futures to be decided today, but weather-wise it was just plain cold.

Kingston was among more than a dozen New York State cities to rack up sub-freezing temperatures overnight.

The city engineer's office recorded a frigid 26 degrees at 5:30 this morning. That overnight low was cold enough for early voters and matched Albany's low.

Two Have 10 Above

However, Oneonta in the Southern Tier and Boonville in the Adirondack foothills took statewide honors with record-breaking readings of 10 degrees above zero.

Other readings, all below freezing, according to the Associated Press:

Watertown, Whiteface and Raybrook 14; Utica 16; Syracuse, Rome and Massena 17; Elmira and Newburgh 20; Rochester, Olean and Plattsburgh 21; Glens Falls and Oswego 23; Buffalo 24; Poughkeepsie 25; Albany 26; New York City 31.

Among cities where records for the date were broken were Syracuse, Rochester and Buffalo.

Considerable cloudiness Wednesday was forecast for the Upstate area, while fair skies were on tap for New York City and Long Island.

Facility to Hold OpenHouseHours On Wednesday

Halfway House, a state facility associated with Middletown State Hospital will hold open house at 99 Clinton Avenue, Wednesday, Nov. 3 from 3 to 5 and 7:30 to 9:30 p. m.

The Halfway House offers a program therapeutically oriented to the rehabilitation of from 20 to 25 former patients of the state hospital. The building is the former Clinton Avenue Nursing Home.

The facility is under the direction of Dr. Hyman Pleasure of Middletown State Hospital. Dr. Luigi Pellegrini is the visiting psychiatrist-in-charge.

Ulster County Association for Mental Health, although having no official responsibility for the pioneer project has offered its cooperation.

Alfred Aeberli is supervisor of the Halfway House. He commenced working at Middletown State Hospital in 1942 as an attendant. In 1955 he was appointed staff attendant of the Adolescent Unit upon its opening, and was in charge of the first boys' ward. He was responsible for organizing a Boy Scout Troop and a 4-H Club for these hospitalized boys, and served as scoutmaster and 4-H leader until June of this year, when he took up his appointment in Kingston. In 1957 he received

Nasser Turning to U.S.

Seeking Help to Meet Food Shortage

CAIRO (AP) — Facing a food shortage, U.A.R. President Gamal Abdel Nasser seems to have found nowhere to turn but to the United States.

Both the Soviet Union and Red China are themselves importing wheat. West Germany and Britain might help, but Egypt no longer has diplomatic relations with Bonn and has antagonized Britain by supporting rebels in South Arabia. Some French wheat apparently is available but only on commercial terms.

Nasser has liberally criticized the United States in the past, but U.S. officials here say that Egypt recently has been trying to improve relations. These officials are urging Washington to act favorably on an approach for help.

The Egyptian approach did not request any specific amount of aid but made known total requirements and sought to learn the prospects for some kind of assistance. It was more a feeler than an outright request. The final decision will be up to President Johnson.

Americans in Egypt have been encouraged by Nasser's decision to halt direct aid to the Congolese rebels. Restrictions on U.S. firms operating in Egypt also have been eased and the new Cabinet appears to be trying energetically to put Egypt's economic house in order.

Last month Nasser contributed 1,000 volumes from his personal library to a new John F. Kennedy Memorial Library housed in quarters donated by the government for a nominal dollar-a-year rental.

The old Kennedy library was destroyed last November by rioting African students protesting the U.S. role in the rescue of refugees from the Congolese rebels.

The United States has already provided a new $11.6-million

Hints From Heloise

by Heloise Cruse

Dear Heloise:

Take this hint from a gal who inspects the type cloth that those stretch pants are made from:

The best way to get the "pills" or knots out of them is to turn them wrong side out, and pull the knots THROUGH to the wrong side of the material — then leave the knots alone.

I do not recommend that women cut these knots off, or shave them, because they might find little holes in the material where they cut the kots away.

Faithful reader

Dear Heloise:

Did you ever say to polish chrome fixtures in your bathrooms with kerosene? Or coal oil?

Mrs. R. W. G.

I sure did! And if you ever try it, you will love it.

This glorious stuff can be bought by the gallon for practically nothing at most filling stations. (You have to take your own container though).

Wet an old wash rag with warm water, wring it out good, then pour a little kerosene on it, and just wipe away. . .

That's all there is to it.

You can polish it with a dry cloth afterwards, but I find this quite unnecessary.

This even helps prevent water spots.

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

When I cared for my mother when she was quite ill, and had to use a curved drinking straw, I found if I removed a pencil pocket clip and put this on the straw, then attached the clip part on the glass, she could handle it much easier.

The clip kept the straw from sliding around the glass.

A Letter of Laughter

Dear Heloise:

My small Heloise mats are so handy and timesaving.

On the back of one of them, I sewed several thicknesses of nylon net, and I "dance" on that to scrub my floors.

It's terrific!

Dear Heloise:

When mending a glove, put your finger in a thimble, then into the finger of the glove.

It will be much easier to mend the glove, plus the fact that you will have no pricked fingers.

Lottie Carlyle

Dear Heloise:

Please allow a man to pass along an idea for your scrapbook.

When fixing up a thermos bottle of coffee for lunches, fishing, or just so you won't have to reheat coffee during the morning when you want another little slug—don't get upset by trying to put sugar into the little hole on top of the bottle with a regular teaspoon, funnel or what have you.

Just take the lid of the coffee pot off, remove the "working parts", leaving nothing but the pot itself, and add sugar to the hot coffee while it's still in the pot. Stir and pour into bottle.

Clayton Wise

And how wise you are, Mr. Wise! No more spills or having the sugar stick to the mouth of the bottle so the stopper is hard to put in.

Dear Heloise:

I needed a small, flat box for a gift, and the only one I had was a hosiery box—with the size, color and make on the lid.

I had a roll of pretty adhesive-backed shelf paper, and I used some of it to cover the lid, allowing an extra margin to fold over the edges, mitered the corners, and had a very attractive box.

I removed the lining of the adhesive-backed paper from the extra margin only.

Newburgh Man Is Given AF Honor For Flight Role

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force Systems Command said Monday a top aviation award, the Thompson Trophy, has been presented to two colonels who set jet-plane world speed and altitude records last May 1.

They , are Col. Robert L. Stephens, Gilmer, Tex., and Lt. Col. Daniel Andre, Memphis, Tenn.

Stephens, the pilot, and Andre, the radar observer, flew their YF-12A interceptor to a straight-course speed record of 2,070.101 miles an hour and a sustained altitude record of 80,257.86 feet on missions conducted from Edwards Air Force Base, Calif.

They received the trophy, presented annually by the Air Foundation of Cleveland, Ohio, at a ceremony here last Friday.

Gen. John P. McConnell, Air Force Chief of Staff, also presented them and three other officers taking part in record-breaking YF-12A flights May 1 with the distinguished flying Cross.

The other recipients included James P. Cooney, Newburgh, N.Y., radar observer.

Mission Speaker To Be Guest at Katrine Church

Dr. Stuart H. Merriam will be presenting the work of the Highland Christian Mission at the Grace Community Church of Lake Katrine on Wednesday, 7:30 p. m.

The Highland Christian Mission is in the mountainous Eastern Highland of New Guinea, an area opened to the white man scarcely more than a decade ago. The mission was founded early in 1964 by Dr. Merriam after he had completed an extensive missionary tour throughout the Middle East and Southeast Asia. Recognizing the great shortage of Christian teachers for the thousands of illiterates on this Stone Age isle Dr. Merriam enthusiastically accepted the call of the natives of Yagusa to come and dwell among them and teach them the truths of the Gospel.

The Highland Christian Mission ministers to two large tribes, the Fore and the Gemi, and borders on the largely restricted territory of the inimicable and often savage Kukukukus.. No mission in the world faces a greater challenge than the Highland Christian Mission, and no land is more needy than New Guinea, the mysterious last frontier.

DR. STUART MERRIAM

The primary objective of the Highland Christian Mission is to present the Gospel of Christ in as challenging a way as possible to as many people as possible. Because of the multiplicity of languages (700, including dialects), English, the new national language, is now being taught to over 100 boys enrolled in the Highland Christian Mission School.

Envisioned in the near future is a girls' school as well as a trade school for older boys, and a unique Highland Christian Village to house and educate the young married students and their families.

The public may attend the service.

Budget Hearing Held; Vote Set For November 15

Saturday night, the Kingston Town Board presented the preliminary budget for 1966 at a public hearing held at the town hall. There is a decrease in the 1966 budget of almost $3,000 less than the amount needed in 1965.

After discussion of various items on the preliminary budget, the townspeople attending, gave a unanimous approval to the budget as submitted by the town board.

The regular monthly meeting of the town board of the Town of Kingston will be held at the town hall Monday, Nov. 15. Following routine business, the board will hold a special meeting at which time the preliminary budget will be submitted to the board for vote.

The Sawkill Snack Bar was the scene of a Halloween party given by proprietor Herbert Dixon for all the local children over the weekend. Many of the youngsters attended in a variety of costumes. Games and refreshments were on the program, as well as a parade with awards given several of the contestants. The most "original" was awarded to Keven McColgan, "spookiest" to Mary Jane Duffy, and the "prettiest" to John McColgan.

Plan Guest Speaker

Wednesday night the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Sawkill Fire Company will hold its regular monthly meeting at the town hall. This month the meeting will be held at 7:30 p. m., a half hour earlier than usual, and will be followed by a social hour with Harry Siemsen, town historian, showing a number of slides of the community, and a talk of the history of the Town of Kingston. Everyone in the community may attend.

Dear Abby . . .

Splitting Hairs!

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: One of the girls in our office has a new baby, born out of wedlock. She decided to keep the baby. She worked here for seven months and everyone liked her a lot. Here's the problem: Another girl in the office is taking up a collection to buy a gift for the baby. I am of the opinion that if I give something toward the gift, it will look like I am condoning immorality. If you were in my place, would you give?

HIGH MORALS

DEAR HIGH: The baby is here, and it is as blameless as any born IN wedlock. You aren't being asked to contribute toward a "medal of honor" for the mother, just a gift for the new baby. If I were in your place, I would give.

• • • •

DEAR ABBY: Nobody has to tell me what my problem is. I am at least 50 pounds overweight. I am 27 years old and everybody tells me what a pretty face I have. When I walk by the store windows, I don't even want to look at the pretty clothes because I know I can't wear them. I have a few girl friends, but no dates. Lately I've started to worry about myself so much I can't fall asleep at night. I have no one to blame but myself for the shape I'm in, but I never seem to do anything about it. Do you know of a quick diet I can follow, Abby? I would like to lose this weight in three months.

HATE MYSELF

DEAR HATE: You didn't put on those 50 pounds in three months, and you can't expect to lose them in three months. See a doctor and follow his instructions. When you start counting calories, you won't have to count sheep.

DEAR ABBY: After reading many letters pro and con about whether cats DO suck the breath from babies, I am impelled to comment. To suck anything, the sucker must surround with his lips the receptacle from which he sucks in order to create a partial vacuum. Consider the shape of a cat's mouth. Now tell me how a cat can make a vacuum so that no air is admitted through any side. It's impossible. But even if it WERE possible, the baby could still obtain air through its nose!

Now tell me, how can a cat "hold" a baby's nose while covering its mouth? As long as the baby is getting air, no vacuum can be produced.

Another fact. Cats are naturally curious, and their hearing is especially acute. When a cat puts his nose against something, he is investigating. In the case of a baby, the cat is probably curious about the "escaping air." A cat will seek warmth, and could conceivably suffocate an infant by lying on its face. But as for the story about cats sucking babies' breath, it is scientifically impossible!

U.S. Weighing Aluminum Move

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government was weighing a decision today on whether to release some of the aluminum stockpile.

The review followed an industry announcement Monday that major producers planned to raise the price of the metal.

President Johnson ordered the review in telephone calls Monday from his Texas ranch.

The President was described by some news sources as angered by the proposed price increase of half a cent a pound while the government is holding 1.4 million tons of surplus metal.

The stockpiles have been declared excess over defense and space program needs and the reserve required for emergencies.

A White House spokesman said a chief element in considering whether to release surplus aluminum was the balance-of-payments problem.

Higher domestic prices could bring a rise in imports—already expected to run 500,000 tons this year—and aggravate the payments problem.

High Falls

Brownie Activities

HIGH FALLS — Brownie Troop 57 celebrated Halloween at the regular meeting Wednesday after school in the High Falls Firehall with a pizza party, games, and awards.

Winners in the games were Kim Wilkins, Betty Lynn Sichel, Gail Alecca.

During the work part of the meeting, the girls made candy favors for the annual High Falls Halloween party which they helped sponsor this year. The party held Saturday night was for all residents of the High Falls area. It was sponsored by the High Falls Ci .c Association assisted by other local organizations of which Brownie Troop 57 with leader, Mrs. Fred Siechel, is one.

Oyster Supper

The annual oyster supper for the benefit of the Blue Mountain Sunday School Christmas Fund will be served Friday evening, Nov. 19 at 5:30 and 6:30. For reservations call Mrs. Floyd W. Myer. There is no set price for this supper. A free will offering will be taken. The Cheerful Workers Society will have a table of fancy articles for sale which can be used as Christmas gifts.

Frat Blaze Is Fatal to Second Ithaca Student

ITHACA, N.Y. (AP) — Bruce E. Robke, 19, of Oyster Bay, died Monday of burns suffered in a fire that swept an Ithaca College fraternity house last week.

Robke was the second student to die as a result of the fire at the Delta Sigma Pi fraternity house Thursday morning.

Jon C. Zuris, 24, of Herkimer, perished in the fire.

Robke, a sophomore, jumped from the roof during the fire and was taken to Tompkins County Hospital where he was in critical condition until his death.

SPCA Meeting

The Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals will meet Monday, Nov. 8 at 8 o'clock at the court house.

Rifton Penny Social

The Rifton Methodist Sunday school will hold a penny social at the Rifton firehouse Friday, Nov. 12, at 7:30 p. m. The public may attend.

COLLEGES AND MORALITY

Colleges in these hectic and changing times face challenges other than making room for the swelling tide of students clamoring at their gates, or updating facilities and curricula.

Not the least of them has to do with the weakening of the traditional rule that they stand "in loco parentis" — in place of the parent; that they are responsible for the moral as well as the academic welfare of the young people in their charge.

Where once colleges and universities attempted to impose stringent codes of behavior on students, many of them, charges one educator, have gone to the opposite extreme of adopting institutional indifference toward them and have rejected any role in their moral life.

"The result," says Dr. Edward J. Bloustein, newly inaugurated president of Bennington, Vt., College, "has been the creation of a value vacuum on college campuses — a vacuum in which college presidents, administrators and faculty have withdrawn from even discussing moral issues with students."

They have, he says, "hidden their morals under bushel baskets."

Bloustein does not advocate that a college attempt to reassume the old role of moral guardian, or to establish a new source of moral authority on the campus.

The need is rather to find a means for the college to express its values without either imposing them or seeming to do so. To do this, it must provide suitable occasions for discussion on the campus of the problems of value which students face.

"The need, in other words, is not for the college to provide moral answers, but rather to provide a forum for raising moral questions; the need is not for moral dogma, but father for moral dialogue."

There is no dearth of dialogue and discussion on college campuses today. But most of it seems to be between students and other students.

Lacking the participation of experienced voices from the academic community, young voices too often fill the "value vacuum" with noise and not much else.

DRAIN ON EDUCATION

Students in Boston in 1963 didn't get 53,000 textbooks. They didn't get 400 sound projectors, or 525 television sets, or 1,230 tape recorders.

The money that would have paid for any of these items — $160,000 — was the cost of vandalism in the public school system that year.

It included the smashing of window panes, breaking and entering, theft of supplies, equipment and money, defacing of buildings and destruction of their contents and arson.

The children were not necessarily deprived, of course. That $160,000 was part of the school system's overhead that year, and the taxpayers just had to dig that much deeper into their pockets if they wanted to provide these tools and materials.

But in Boston, as in many other cities all over the nation, this particularly wasteful kind of overhead is becoming an increasingly large and intolerable factor in the total cost of education.

Though few cities approach New York's vandalism bill of more than a million dollars a year, what they do pay is a proportionately severe drain on their resources, and a proportionately heavy handicap on the quality of education their children are receiving.

Insurance is not an answer because the premiums have grown so costly that many school systems can no longer afford them. In some cases companies refuse to handle this type of insurance at all and have even canceled previously issued policies.

A number of schools are turning to burglar alarm systems, which are designed to detect attacks against protected points and automatically summon police.

In the Louisville public schools, in the first year after the installation of such protection, the cost of vandalism attributed to intruders fell dramatically from $23,583 to $5,347. In the second year it dropped to under $2,000.

Louisville's experience indicates that not until chronic vandals begin to be apprehended does the message get across to potential vandals that the schools are not built to be sitting ducks for their vicious acts.

The fellow who still has screens on his house for Indian summer is smug — but not as smug as his neighbor is when the first fellow gets caught by cold weather.

'These Days'

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

IN RUSSIA IT'S "I WON'T WORK"

A document that has profound implications for our foreign policy — or would have, if we had anyone who paid attention to such things — has reached Washington from within the Soviet Union. It is the notes taken of a talk given by the Soviet economist Aganbegyan at the Moscow publishing house Mysl. The notes have been published widely in England, and have brought an unconvincing "disavowal" through Tass, the Soviet foreign news service. One reason for not accepting the disavowal is that Aganbegyan is known to have submitted a larger brief to the Communist Central Committee in the effort of his own group of economists in the Academy of Sciences to promote a more reliable "quantified analysis" of the Russian economy. His talk, in Moscow, was represented as a "summary" of the original brief.

What is Aganbegyan saying? He is telling us that central planning of the economy in Russia is in almost complete collapse. The current seven-year plan has just been cut short. All the targets which the larger twenty-year plan was supposed to hit at the end of the first decade have not been approached "for even a single indicator." In the last six years the growth-rate of Russian agriculture has fallen by nine-tenths, declining from eight per cent per year to less than one per cent. Retail trade, during the same period, has declined by 75 per cent. The growth rate of the economy as a whole has dropped by two-thirds. Meanwhile, the population has been growing, forcing the real income of individuals lower and lower.

Aganbegyan discloses why statistics in the Soviet Union cannot be trusted. He says that the Russians have as many machine tools as the United States. But he adds that "only half our tools are working while the remainder is either not utilized or in repair." There are more workers in Russia engaged in repair work than in the building of new tools.

Few of the statistics for primary production have any real meaning in Russia, for the "slip between the cup and the lip" is practically universal. Half the timber hauled in the Soviet Union is lost, according to Aganbegyan. From the remaining half, the Russians produe one-third of the U.S. total, one-fifth of West Germany's, and one-eighth of Sweden's.

The Soviet employment record is positively dismal. Says Aganbegyan, "In the coming years we shall have to find work for an army of ten million young people in the labor force. In the last two years there has been a significant rise in unemployment, particularly in medium-sized and small towns. On the average in such towns twenty-five to thirty per cent of the employable population wishing to work are unable to find jobs. In large towns about eight per cent of the population are unemployed."

The seven-year plan was supposed to raise individual living standards. But for most of the population there has been no rise, and for ten million people the standards have actually fallen. In the midst of penury the military, of course, continues to get what it wants. American and Russian defense expenditures are approximately equal, but the Soviet economic potential is only half as big as that of the U.S., so there is little butter in the midst of so much preoccupation with guns. Of the one hundred million people at work in the Soviet Union, thirty to forty million are employed in defense industries.

Aganbegyan blames the Soviet troubles on "an unbridled course of super-industrialization." There has been an artificial curb on light industries. Collective agriculture is woefully inefficient. A collective farmer, according to Aganbegyan, can earn 1.5 rubles a day working for a government farm. But on his own private plot he can earn as much as 3.5 rubles. Says Aganbegyan, "If people were permitted to leave the countryside there would be practically nobody left there." The Russian grain collection statistics, according to Aganbegyan, are overstated almost a hundred per ent.

Aganbegyan doesn't touch on the subject of sabotage or conscious slow-down in the Russian economy. But it looks from this corner that the Russian people have adapted the tactics of the old American I.W.W. to the Marxist world. The initials I.W.W. formally stood for the International Workers of the World. But everybody really knew that they meant "I Won't Work."

Patch Test Can Determine Allergy to Some Drugs

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—My daughter, 17, is allergic to several drugs. Will it be safe for her to take immunizing shots for poliomyelitis and tetanus? Can she be given skin tests to see whether she is sensitive to these shots and to various drugs? A dermatologist tells me that no skin test can be made for such drugs as penicillin and the sulfas.

A—Allergy to such drugs as penicillin, the sulfas, aspirin, quinine, some vitamin preparations, castor oil and cascara, and the barbiturates is common. There is no danger from taking the oral poliomyelitis vaccine or tetanus toxoid but an allergic reaction from injected polio vaccine and antitetanus serum is possible.

For those drugs for which a preliminary sensitivity test made by a minute injection into the skin is not possible, a different type of skin test —a patch test—can be made.

Q—My husband gets up eight or nine times a night to urinate but only passes one or two ounces each time. What do you think might be wrong?

A—The most likely cause is a benign enlargement of your husband's prostate. He should consult a urologist and have the part of the prostate that is obstructing the free flow of urine removed. There is no other treatment and the condition will slowly worsen if steps are not taken to correct it.

Q—I have had a mild case of prostate trouble. Now my doctor says I have a dry prostate. What is it and what can be done for it?

A—If after a prostatic massage your doctor cannot recover any prostatic secretion, you have a dry prostate. I think your doctor is trying to tell you that your prostatitis has been cured or is well on the way to a cure.

Q—What would make black and blue places occur after slight pressure on my skin?

A—The most likely cause is purpura, a disease due to a deficiency of blood platelets. In some persons this condition is associated with an allergy, especially to such drugs as quinine, the sulfas, trimethadione (for epilepsy), potasium perchlorate, some antibiotics, oral diabetic drugs and phenlbutazone (for arthritis). In others it is associated with rheumatic fever or rheumatoid arthritis or with a deficiency of vitamin C. The treatment would depend on the cause.

Q—My doctor has me taking vitimin B12 tablets. Would two tablets of vitamin B6 have the same effect?

A—No. These are two different vitamins. Pyridoxine (B6) is given only to infants and cobalamine (B12) is an effective treatment for pernicious anemia.

"It's a Little Hard to Tell Which Side It's Buttered On!"

Washington News

By RAY CROMLEY
Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — While relatively few people are marching in protest and a handful are burning draft cards, thousands of ordinary American men, women and students are quietly and voluntarily giving their time and thoughts to helping the people of South Viet Nam.

This was brought sharply home to me after we ran a column about people who had been asking what they could do. We reported that if anyone wanted to do something there was a way. His group could adopt a South Vietnamese hamlet and become friends with individual Vietnamese people.

Within three weeks there were 302 replies to this column—by people wanting to help. They came from 251 different cities and towns in 39 states, including Alaska and Hawaii—plus Okinawa and Guam.

ONE OF THESE LETTERS came from 1st Lt. John B. Givham (ret.), of Safford, Ala., a helicopter pilot who lost a leg fighting in South Viet Nam (it was his 317th combat support mission).

"If I were not disabled I would be right back over there helping those people fight for their freedom.

"Anyway, I would like to correspond with somebody in Chuong Thien Province—preferably the city of Vi Thanh. I was wounded just outside that town.

"My second choice would be Tay Ninh Province, since I once saved the lives of several townspeople at Bau Co hamlet, several miles due north of Black Lady (Black Virgin Mt.) Mountain."

Miss Brenda Cox, of Rock Hill, S. C., wrote: "I would like very much to correspond with some Vietnamese hamlet, but I would like to know if you think that my doing this would help since I am only 15 years old."

Letters came from Bible classes, 4-H clubs, Ladies Aid groups, prayer circles, school classes, Junior Chambers of Commerce, from the Board of Lay Activities of the Methodist Church in Little Rock, Ark., from Rotary Clubs, B'nai B'rith, Boy Scout and Girl Scout troops, business firms, from television and radio stations wanting to make appeals, from college newspapers.

One Junior Chamber of Commerce said that if the program worked out with them they would propose the Junior Chamber of Commerce back the idea nationally.

There was a letter from the wife of a Special Forces serviceman in Okinawa, one from a federal credit union in Alaska and one from the Hilo Y's Men's Club in the Hawaiian Islands.

THERE WERE LETTERS from ex-missionaries, school teachers, students, housewives, businessmen. But most came from folks like Mrs. W. H. Yarborough, of Oklahoma City:

"I could not do much maybe, but I could write and exchange news and ideas or most of all just let them know we know they're people and not statistics we read about.

"I have raised my family, am unable to work in the public much. But . . . I'd like to contribute what little I can to make the lives of those less fortunate than I a little brighter."

The American Friends of Viet Nam has gotten in touch with those who have written letters. Follow-through from South Viet Nam on adopting hamlets is being carried out by the National Voluntary Service, an association of South Vietnamese college students. Follow-through on the person-to-person letters is being aided by Bui Diem, publisher of the Saigon Post, an NEA service newspaper like this one.

Layoff of Workers Results After Settlement of Steel

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—Public opinion in America is slowly becoming disillusioned about the value of settlements forced under threat of strikes. For they are turning out to be not just a battle between employers and labor unions but often bring cruel hardships to workers who, weeks after a settlement, find themselves without jobs.

Plenty of news space is given to the happenings during a critical negotiation on the eve of a possible strike, but unfortunately the story of what happens in the weeks and months afterwards doesn't get widespread attention—mostly because it develops through fragmentary disclosures, as both unions and management are reluctant to comment on the ensuing events.

What has occurred, for instance, since the big crisis in steel last September, which was settled by Presidential intervention? Steel inventories—piled up in anticipation of the strike — now are being absorbed. The index of production, based on the years 1957 through 1959, is down from 150.6 in April 1965 to 109.1. There is uncertainty as to how long the decline will continue, but the effects of the downward turn are conspicuous.

Some of the so-called high-cost units are at a standstill and layoffs have been substantial, especially in the older steel areas. While skilled workers haven't been as much affected, the damage to the non-skilled is considerable.

Many private estimates by reporters who specialize in news of the steel industry indicate that employment of hourly workers is down about 15 per cent since its peak last summer. There has been a lesser impact on salaried workers as they are not readily replaced without a loss for training-time. The overall figure, however, for both hourly and salaried personnel is about 10 per cent below the July level. In one plant in the Pittsburgh area, wage earners must have a seniority going back as far as 1948 in order to keep their jobs.

Another consequence of the settlement with the major steel companies has been an outbreak of strikes against the smaller producers of steel, who contend they cannot afford the high wage costs imposed by the recent contracts accepted by the larger companies. In five small companies alone at least 17,000 workers are idle.

From the standpoint of earnings and the effects on individuals who have invested their savings in steel companies, a survey by The Wall Street Journal last week showed that, out of 23 companies studied, at least ten suffered serious declines from the third-quarter figure, though other segments of the national economy made gains.

There is no question but that the economic convulsions precipitated by major industrial conflicts will result in steadily rising price scales as the purchasing power of the dollor continues to go down. Meanwhile, foreign steel producers, with lower wage costs and lower prices to offer, are increasing their shipments to the United States.

What is the answer? Neither labor nor management has come up with any solution, and the government as an interested bystander prefers to do nothing remedial but to wait instead until the situation drifts into another crisis, when presumably pressure will be applied again without warrant of law.

Candidates for high office in the steel union outdo each other in campaign promises. Indeed, they promised this year as much as $3 per hour in new wages and benefits for a three-year agreement as contrasted with what the companies considered the maximum—namely, 27 cents an hour.

Presidential intervention in this situation, therefore, was a restraining influence and helped to get the union leaders off the hook. But it means an ominous trend in the direction of government control unless voluntary action is taken by the rank and file of labor union members. For only when they become better informed and vocal will they remove the danger to the free-enterprise system and to the growth of employment.

Limit raises in monor suits are even more logical than in majors. After all if a hand will make nine tricks with normal luck it will produce 10 with a bit of good fortune but there is plenty of space between three and five.

Opening lead—♥ Q

South has no decent way to respond to his partner's diamond opening except a limit raise to three diamonds. North looks his hand over and decides that five diamonds is out of the question but that maybe three no-trump will make.

His first impulse is to try a three no-trump bid. Then he looks at that worthless doubleton in hearts and decides that if there should be a play for three no-trump it would be far better to have South as declarer.

North bids three spades and South notes that he has potential stoppers in both hearts and clubs and that his six diamonds are probably going to represent six tricks at no-trump. South bids three no-trump.

If West opens a spade against the three no-trump contract South is going to go down at least one trick but West is most likely to open a heart. The heart lead will give South his ninth trick and he will make the game.

Without limit raises South will have to respond two clubs to the opening diamond bid. West will probably bid two hearts and North and South will wind up playing some diamond contract. If they stop at three they will show a profit. If they get to five they will surely be set. If they play at four the result may be a profit or loss depending on the defense.

Miss Lanchester Gives Theory on Comedy Approach

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Elsa Lanchester, whose fluttery manner conceals a thoughtful approach to comedy, believes in developing a funny character as a basically normal person.

"If you don't start out playing an eccentric or a nut," the British performer maintained, "you can turn all sorts of things — particularly small things — into surprise and comedy. But if the character is exaggerated to start, you have to do wild, outrageous things and keep getting wilder and more outrageous as you go along."

Long Experience

Thus, she continued, she plays Miss Culver, the head mistress in John Forsythe's school for young women, as a slightly vague, fuzzy but reasonable creature.

"Then if I do something not quite in character, even drink a glass of port or hiccough — anything unexpected, really — it is likely to seem funny," she explained.

That is Miss Lanchester's theory, built out of long experience. Unfortunately this truly gifted comedienne and some other good performers in NBC's "John Forsythe Show" are mired in some pretty sticky situations and scripts. Normal or eccentric, it is hard to be funny in that series.

Apparently Forsythe, a man of taste, charm and ability, was persuaded that if the television audience accepted several seasons of a series in which he played a gay bachelor blade trying to bring up one teen-age niece, its enjoyment would be multiplied several times over if he played a gay bachelor blade trying to bring up a whole school full of teen-agers.

Monday night's episode — in which Forsythe, Miss Lanchester and the other adults scarcely figured at all — concentrated on a 15-year-old pupil engineering an elopement with a 17-year-old from a nearby military school. The situations were artificial, the dialogue unreal, the comedy lines stale and the whole half-hour a crashing bore.

'Ben Casey' Ailing

After all those season of bursting health in the ratings, ABC's dedicated, surly neurosurgeon, "Ben Casey" is ailing. It is almost ironic that the cause of the show's malaise is "Run For Your Life," an NBC series with a hero who has been given two years to live.

The new series starring Ben Gazzara is a well-produced, sleek and diversified show. Its basic format — a hero trying to crowd 30 years of living into a few months — gives it plenty of flexibility.

Today's Business Mirror

By SALLY RYAN
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Chicken croquettes, mixed grill, a meatball dinner for Rover? Yes, they're making gourmet dog food now for particular pets.

Pet food was a $654.6-million market in the United States last year. It nearly has doubled since 1958. Predictions are that it will run more than a billion dollars by 1975.

Pet Food Sales Up

Sales of pet food are growing despite a drop in the number of dogs and cats.

The dog population has declined from 24.1 million in 1961 to 22.9 million in 1965, according to a market research report. The cat population went down from 22.1 to 16.7 million during the same time.

But manufacturers are selling more dog and cat food. Sales the first six months of 1965 were up 10 per cent from 1964.

Trade sources say that is because more of the pets are owned by city and suburban families, which traditionally have been heavier buyers of commercially prepared pet foods.

Eye appeal and convenience pet foods are the order of the day. Pet foods are being made to look like human ones. Advertisements show juicy red steaks or meatloaf touched with parsley.

Gourmet Cat Food

There is what is billed as a gourmet cat food, compounded of liver, kidney, chicken, meat and fish to appeal to the most fastidious Siamese.

It is far removed from the day when great-grandmother filled the farm dog's dish with table scraps.

The big pet food companies are going all out to keep pets from feeding on the family's leftovers or sharing its meals.

In the past decade, the big swing has been to packaged dry foods, pellets expanded by air or steam. Manufacturers say they are cheaper than canned food, neater and offer a more uniform product.

Then one manufacturer came up with a gravy made by adding water. Others followed with their own chunks with sauces.

Now there also are soft moist pet foods which come in various forms — hamburger patties or meatballs. Some are individually wrapped in meal-sized packages that don't need to be stored in the refrigerator.

The pet food manufacturers say the new dog and cat owners want small packages that don't require refrigeration or anything to be added before serving.

One brand even comes packaged with individual plastic trays, eliminating the need of a dish.

Farm Bureau Hears Reports, Holds Elections at Meeting

The annual meeting of the Ulster County Farm Bureau was held at the SRS Home Cottekill, Oct. 27 at 7:30. A turkey dinner was served to approximately 100 people.

Jack Gill, president, presided at the meeting and gave a brief resume of the year's activities.

Members of Farm Bureau met with Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick as part of a five-county meeting on two separate occasions. The policy development committee met with Assemblyman Kennth L. Wilson and, as a part of a group from all over the state met with Governor Rockefeller. Numerous telegrams were sent to elected officials on various issues including the farm-labor crisis.

Contributions were made to Albany County Egg Promotion program, $50 and to the newly re-built 4-H camp $250 for a dishwasher. Several farm couples from the area attended the annual meeting at Syracuse last November.

Gill introduced officers and directors present; Chairman of the Women's Committee Mrs. Roderick Dressel; Mrs. Richard Schoonmaker who represents District 10 on the State Women's Committee; and guests NYFB Vice President Bob Gregg of Red Hook; Bob Guzewich, Extension Agent; Leonard Gunsch; and Clarence Shepherd, director of Insurance Agencies who gave a short talk for the Mutual Fund.

Accomplishments of the Women's Committee for the year were cited, among them the annual hat show; booth at the Horticulture Show; distribution of placemats for Dairy Month; and the annual Rural-Urban Luncheon.

New officers and directors for the coming year elected are Jack Gaffney, vice president; and directors John Quimby, Gene Coy, and Robert Kelder Jr. Philip Davis and John Minard are co-chairmen of the membership committee.

The resolutions were presented for discussion and vote by Chairman Roderick Dressel on National, State, and County levels. Among those passed by the group were:

One pertaining to the transportation of migrant laborers; a recommendation that there be no closed season on racoons a recommendation that the State make a study of the increasing amount of real estate being purchased by non-profit organizations; a recommendation that a farmer be on every county planning board.

Also, farm bureau went on record as being in favor of the campaign against water pollution.

The annual state convention will be held at Rochester Nov. 8, 9, and 10. Anyone wishing to attend may call Gill for reservations.

Central Hudson Reports Earnings Up for Quarter

Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corporation reported today that net income for the third quarter of this year was $1,629,366 and and net income for 12 months ending Sept. 30 was $7,474,824.

The utility reports that the third quarter figure compares with $1,567,308 for the third quarter of 1964 and the 12-month figure compares with $6,969,460 for the same period of time one year ago.

On a per share basis, the 1965 earnings are equivalent to 41 cents for the quarter and $1.93 for the 12 months on 3,370,073 shares of common stock outstanding. This compares with 1964 figures of 39 cents and $1.78 on the same number of shares.

In its Quarterly Report to more than 18,000 stockholders, Central Hudson reported both electric and gas revenues up five per cent for the quarter. Industrial electric revenues were up eight per cent, primarily due to IBM's expanded manufacturing operations at East Fishkill, and commercial electric revenues were up seven per cent. Although sales to residential electric customers increased nine per cent, revenues increased three per cent, reflecting the effect of rate reductions.

a new symbol on New York's health scene

(and what it can mean to you)

It's 2 A.M. in the emergency ward of a busy New York hospital. An accident victim is about to go into surgery. A transfusion will be needed, but the hospital's supply of blood to match the patient's blood type is temporarily exhausted.

Until recently, locating this blood, or a donor, could have required a dozen or more urgent phone calls. Now it takes one. Within minutes, the hospital knows the nearest blood bank with a supply of this type blood; a vehicle is on the way to pick it up.

Maintaining this emergency inventory is only one of the smaller ways in which The New York Blood Center—whose symbol is shown above—is helping to solve the blood-supply problems of Greater New York. As operating arm of the Community Blood Council, this new Center works with the Red Cross and the other participating blood-gathering agencies in Greater New York. For the first time, a master inventory of blood supplies and donors is being built. Efforts to stimulate increased donor programs are already in progress. A solution to the area's serious shortage is in sight.

If you are a Blue Cross subscriber, this has added meaning. Until recently, Blue Cross covered only the cost of administering blood transfusions. Now, at no extra charge, you can also qualify for cost-free blood. This represents a saving of $35 to $50 a pint—and the average transfusion requires three to four pints.

All that's needed is an acceptable Blue Cross blood-donor program at your group. Direct payment subscribers can also arrange to qualify for this new benefit.

For further information, see the person who handles Blue Cross for your group. Or call MU 9-2800.

Winners Named In Halloween Parade, Party

Costume winners for the annual Saugerties Youth Council Halloween parade and party Saturday night were announced this week by Vernon Joe Benjamin, youth council chairman.

More than 1,000 town and village youngsters participated in the costume parade through the village business district, and the grand march in Dolan Auditorium.

Pamela Davis, Miss Saugerties of 1966 led the parade and marchers. Saugerties Drum Corps provided the cadence for the parade which included C. A. Lynch and Washington Hook and Ladder Fire Company trucks. Volunteers of the fire companies assisted in the area. The event was co-sponsored this year by Girls Community Club and Saugerties Lions Club. Apples, cider and donuts were served.

Robert Moser of Saugerties School faculty served as master of ceremonies. Judges were Supervisor Peter Williams, who also led the grand march with Miss Saugerties; Mayor Cornelius Cox, Justice of the Peace William D. Brinnier, who is Lions president; and Mrs. Brinnier, president of Girls Community Club.

Supervisor Williams is the first chairman of the Youth Council.

The winners include funniest, the jester, Toby Tobiassen; dancers, Merrill Cline; original, the robot, Fred Bright, and organginder, Mona and Carol Wasserbach; group pumpkins, A. Kelly and J. B. Kern; cigarette box, Dorothy and Donna Moore; weirdest, Frankenstein, Stephen Haun; headless man, Joan Winnie; prettiest, Bo Peep, Caroline Lisa Mayone; the Indian, Dawn Thompson.

Reformed Church Congregational Meeting Slated

There will be a congregational meeting for the members of Saugerties Reformed Church Friday at 6 p. m. in the parish hall.

The meeting will be preceeded by a covered dish supper with the ladies of the Women's Guild providing the necessary arrangements. Each family is requested to bring a covered dish and place settings for each member of the family. Following the dinner there will be child-care provided in the chapel.

At the meeting, the annual election of Elders and Deacons will be held with the pastor, the Rev. Orville Jay Hine, presiding.

Following the elections, the Stewardship Committee of the consistory has arranged for the showing of the film, "The Spenders." W. Eugene Hicken will be in charge of the film presentation.

The budget and program of the church for 1966 will be presentel by the men of the church and will include the following areas: "Our Church Mission" by George Turner; "Our Ministry" by Ralph Hayes; "Our Church at Work" by Lloyd Loop; "Christian Education" by W. E. Hicken; and "Our Church Buildin'" by Arthur D. York. The way in which the church program for 1966 can be supported will be presented by C. J. Reinhard and Turner.

An interesting and informative program has been prepared and all interested persons are invited to attend.

Jayncees Slate Toys for Tots Holiday Program

Under the co-chairmanship of Mrs. Ted Corea and Mrs. Arlene Childers the Jayncees will run the "Toys for Tots Project" again this year.

All repairable toys are collected with the assistance of the Jayncees and turned over to the welfare agency. The welfare agency in turn distributes them to welfare and needy families to provide for a brighter Christmas.

Anyone desiring to help in this worthwhile project may donate toys at Curry's Gulf Station, Route 9W, Barclay Heights. For further information contact Mrs. Corea or Mrs. Childers.

Rosarians to Meet

St. Mary's Rosary Society of Saugerties will hold its regular monthly meeting Thursday at the school cafeteria at 8 p. m. The Rev. Paul Sullivan will talk on the life of a Trappist Monk. After the regular meeting floral arrangements will be made by the Flower Garden. All ladies of the parish are invited to come.

Wawarsing Club to Have Moose Dinner

Members of the Wawarsing Sportsmen's Assn. will be treated to a full course moose dinner on Tuesday, Nov. 9, 6:30 p. m. at the clubhouse at Honk Lake, Napanoch. The regular business meeting will follow.

Donald Lyons, an active member of the club and its federation representative, was a member of the hunting party which went to Canada a few weeks ago to bring back some deer meat.

At the business m ting, the upcoming deer season regulations and hunting safety rules will be on the agenda.

Special reports on the release by the club of hundreds of pheasants and the success of small game hunters luring the fast fading season will be made.

Movies will be shown after the meeting.

Seek Persons 72, Over for Social Security Checks

George J. Habernig, social security district manager in Kingston, announced today that his office is making an extensive effort to reach those persons 72 or over who have some credit for work under social security, but who do not receive social security benefits.

The Social Security Amendments of 1965 reduced the amount of work credit some persons 72 or over need to qualify for monthly benefits, he added. He said that many persons in this area have not been able to qualify for benefits in the past because they did not have credit for enough work under social security. Now, many of these people, or their widows, can receive a special benefit of $35 a month if they have credit for less work than before.

These people should get in touch with the Kingston social security district office to find out if they can receive this special benefit. Wives of these workers can receive a special benefit of $17.50 a month when they are 72.

Another good reason these people should visit the district office, Habernig continued, is because of "medicare." Anyone 65 or over, who does not receive social security or railroad retirement benefits, needs to establish their eligibility for hospital insurance benefits. At the same time, they can sign up for medical insurance benefits, the voluntary part of the program. People who are 65 or over before Jan. 1, 1966, need to sign up for medical insurance before March 31, 1966, so that they can have this protection when the program starts July 1, 1966.

Workers at the Kingston social security district office will give a complete explanation of "medicare" rights. The Kingston district office is located at 57 Albany Avenue.

138 Attend Y Halloween Party

The annual YMCA Halloween party was held Saturday morning, from 9:30 a. m. until 12 o'clock noon with 138 boys and girls in attendance and all in costume. It was the largest attended Halloween party promoted in Kingston this year.

Girls and boys were invited to the party this year with the girls participating for the first time, as girls are now connected with the membership. A grand parade from the youth department to the gymnasium started the party with some of the most novel and original costumes ever seen in the Y Halloween event. The judges and the Y staff thought the costumes were the best ever. The mechanical man was a real origination as well as the carnival vending booth. This was made of cardboard and supported by two boys, both of which were imitating the selling of soda pop, candy and carnival souvenirs. This original inovation took first prize and was considered the most outstanding of all costumes. There were eight homemade box costumes and were most amusing to all who attended.

There were guessing contests in the youth department and winners were: The number of maple leaves in a bushel basket won by Cindy Conrad, who guessed 159. There were actually 234 in the basket. The number of pieces of candy corn in a glass jar was won by John MacCullough who hit the count exactly with a guess of 200.

Costume winners were:

The best Hobo won by Harold Pine; second, Wilfred Ortiz.

The best costume of a boy dressed as a girl won by Joan McGowan; second, Lillian McGowan.

The best costume of a girl dressed as a boy won by Brian Williams; second Ernie McGowan.

The most horrible costume won by Oris Abrams, second William Bockman. The most original won by 2 boys, Ronnie Esposito and Richard Sarkies, depicting the carnival booth; second, Lisa Abrams (Depicting Mary Poppins).

The best all-round costume won by Maureen Fairley; second, Paul Barnum.

The Halloween games and stunts and and the winners are:

Placing one end of a piece of string in the contestants mouth and on the lower end near the floor was a marshmallow attached. The boy or girl who chewed the string into their mouth first along with the Marshmallow was the winner. 1st for boys, won by James Fisher. 2nd for girls, won by Cindy Soechting.

Eating crackers and then whistling a few notes of Yankee Doodle won by (boys) Garry Ennis, (girls) Beth Reilly.

There were two wild candy scrambles, one for the 3rd, 4th and 5th graders and the second for the 6th and 7th grade. This avoided roughness and assured all boys and girls a better opportunity to get some candy. The candy was all paper covered, many of which were lollypops.

Refreshments were served in the dining room, consisting of sweet cider and sugar donuts. The prizes consisted of one pound boxes of chocolates. Assisting Louis H. Schafer and Leon I. Van Heusen, the Y secretaries, were Joseph Klonowski, Carleton Bell, Richard Fox and 10 members of the YMCA Leaders Corps.

Jury Indicts 2 As Tax Evaders

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — A Utica trucking firm executive and a Syracuse attorney are under indictment on charges of evading federal income taxes.

A federal grand jury Monday indicted Joseph Gorea of Utica and Henry E. Taylor of Syracuse.

Gorea, head of Gorea's Trucking Firm, was accused of understating his income by a total of $41,098 from 1959 to 1961.

He allegedly evaded paying $22,349 in taxes.

Taylor was accused of understating his taxable income by $32,743 from 1959 through 1962. The indictment charged him with owing $9,069 in income taxes.

The grand jury said Taylor reported an income of $31,440 for the period and paid income taxes of $6,897. His actual income was put at $64,138.

Gorea was reported to have declared an income of $104,043 for the period, but the indictment said his income was $145,139. The grand jury said he paid $35,635 in income taxes for the three-year period.

The Grand Jury also accused Gorea of understating corporate receipts. The indictment alleges that the firm reported income of $526,995 for the three-year period, but said the actual income was $603,673.

Bus Is Sliced By Train Killing 28; 16 Injured

MEXICO CITY (AP)—A train sliced a bus in two at a crossing near the Teotihuacan pyramids Monday, killing 28 persons and injuring 16 others, officials reported. The train was en route to Mexico City from Veracruz.

Teotihuacan is about 25 miles northeast of Mexico City. It is the site of the famous pyramid of the Sun and the ruins of the ancient Toltecs and Aztecs.

Police said the bus driver apparently tried to race over the crossing ahead of the train. The driver, among 14 persons trapped in the forward part of the bus, was among those killed.

Wreckage and bodies were hurled 260 feet by the impact of the crash.

Saugerties Plans

street commissioner and William Voerg, superintendent of village public works. An appraisal will be made of village equipment and manpower in order to determine if the village can do the job.

In answer to a letter from Village Clerk James V. Gage, the Motor Vehcile Department recommended the village enact rules and regulations for the disposition of derelict automobiles. The board will give further study to the matter.

To Attend Classes

Trustee Donald McCaig, fire commissioner reported the fire chief and three volunteers, one from each company will attend a school for fire marshals and inspectors Nov. 9 and 10 at Rome, N. Y. He also reported a program has been scheduled for fire warden inspection of public places. Private homeowners may request home inspection at this time by calling the village clerk.

Trustee Gregory Mulstay reported favorable results in his request of property owners to clean up areas overgrown by weeds and brush. The board went on record thanking residents for their cooperation in the cleanup campaign.

Mayor Cornelius Cox appointed Clements and Steele to study a list of legal holidays for all village departments.

A plan to install lights at the Saugerties Youth Council ice skating rink opposite Main Street School will be studied by Trustee Richard Underhill Jr., parks and playgrounds commissioner and Vernon Joe Benjamin village recreation director.

Attorney Louis P. Francello, representing former village clerk and registrar Ernest R. Ackert, advised by letter that the former village officer was still receiving reports for Ulster County Clerks Office and was also sent a copy of a report from the State Department of Health, Division of Vital Statistics. He asked the village to again certify that Ackert is no longer village registrar and clerk.

Mayor Cox directed Village Clerk Gage to write and advise Francello that the copy of a report sent to Ackert by the State Health Department was correct and was his copy regarding the period in which he served as registrar. Village Clerk Gage received a copy and the mayor received the original.

Drop Gift Packages

A U.S. C130 Hercules dropped 5,000 gift packages and 25,000 newspapers over a 90-mile stretch along the North Vietnamese coast south of the city of Vinh. The packages contained cloth, plastics, needles, thread, notebooks, towels and undershirts.

It was the largest such drop of household goods so far and was made in connection with the observance Monday of South Viet Nam's national holiday, the second anniversary of the overthrow and assassination of President Ngo Dinh Diem.

U.S. and Vietnamese planes kept targets in all four military areas of South Viet Nam under attack almost around the clock.

U.S. B52s from Guam bombed a Viet Cong stronghold in the Boi Loi forest 35 miles northwest of Saigon.

Results of the raid were not reported.

A spokesman said U.S. and Vietnamese planes destroyed or damaged nearly 500 Viet Cong structures in other raids. In one of the heaviest, a flight of F100 Supersabres smashed a communications center in the Mekong Delta 75 miles south of Saigon, the spokesman said.

South Vietnamese Premier Nguyen Cao Ky's office announced that Ky would leave next Monday on a state visit of two or three days to South Korea. Since taking office in June, he has visited Formosa, Thailand and Malaysia and urged an anti-Communist alliance of Asian nations.

Brome Nurse Dies

ENDICOTT, N. Y. (AP) — Sue Russell, 20, of Copenhagen, Lewis County, died Monday night in Ideal Hospital of injuries suffered in the collision of two automobiles Saturday night on Route 17, a mile west of Owego.

Police said Miss Russell, a student nurse at Binghamton State Hospital, was a passenger in one of the cars.

Tennessee Boy Is 40 Millionth Scout

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Peter Steitz is only 11, his rank is still a tenderfoot—but he got a mighty big serial number today.

Peter, a member of St. Bartholomew's Boy Scout Troop 177, was listed by the Boy Scouts of America as the 40 millionth boy to join the scouting movement since it began in this country on Feb. 8, 1910.

Gemini 7 Could Have Visitor in December Flight

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — The Gemini 6 and 7 spaceships may maneuver to within inches of each other. Astronaut Thomas Stafford may leave No. 6 and walk over to No. 7 during the double orbital flight scheduled next month.

Discuss Possibilities

These possibilities came up Monday as the Gemini 7 astronauts discussed the flight with newsmen.

Astronauts Frank Borman and James Lovell also disclosed they plan to circle the earth for 10 of their 14 days wearing only long underwear.

The original Gemini 6 flight, with astronauts Walter Schirra and Stafford, was postponed Oct. 25 when the Agena rocket Schirra and Stafford were supposed to catch and link up with failed to reach orbit.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration decided to try the unique doubleheader, which has been dubbed "The Spirit of '76." It calls for Gemini 7 to be launched Dec. 8, with Gemini 6 to follow about eight days later. Gemini 6 is to stay aloft two or three days.

Borman Confident

Asked how close the two spaceships might come, Borman said:

"We really feel we could get to within a matter of inches. I'm not saying that we will. But all our simulations show that once you're wihin 50 to 60 feet, it should be easy to go the rest of the way."

Will Elect . . .

the state section of the election ballot.

Among them was a request by the state to borrow $1 billion to clean up polluted rivers, streams and lakes, a plan espoused by Gov. Rockefeller.

Rockefeller threw his weight behind the anti-pollution plan during the fall campaign but made few speeches in behalf of legislative candidates. Many were wary that Rockefeller would be a liability because of his role in fathering the new state sales tax.

On the other hand, U.S. Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, regarded by many as the state's leading Democrat, campaigned actively for his party's candidates. He also filmed scores of endorsements for television.

In New York City, Kennedy put his prestige behind Beame, who had won his party's nomination from a rival backed by retiring Mayor Robert F. Wagner. The mayor later gave his blessing to Beame.

Buckley Siphons Votes

But both Beame and Lindsay complained that a third mayoral candidate, Conservative William F. Buckley Jr., was siphoning votes from their columns.

Buckley, a magazine editor and newspaper columnist, entered the race largely as a protest against the liberal Republicanism of Lindsay. The Liberal Party, which usually backs Democrats, endorsed Lindsay this time.

Another Conservative, Manhattan lawyer, Henry S. Middendorf Jr., contested the Court of Appeals seat but was not regarded as a major factor.

The legislative election was conducted under a new redistricting plan devised by Republicans before they relinquished control of the Legislature. It enlarges the Senate from 58 to 65 members and the Assembly from 150 to 165.

But the legislators elected today will serve for only one year. The federal court that ordered the election as part of a reform of the state's apportionment laws has directed the state to produce a beter redistricting plan for use in the 1966 election.

Six Left Homeless

Five children and their aunt were left homeless Monday when an early morning fire caused extensive damage to their home in Pougquag, Dutchess County. Although the fire was confined to the cellar, the upper rooms were damaged by smoke and water. Cause of the fire which broke out at 2:15 a. m. is unknown. Firemen from Beekman and Stormville battled the fire for three hours. Miss Edythe M. Guptill and her five nieces and nephews all escaped injury. The father of the children Richard A. Guptill, a former guard at Green Haven Prison, was killed in an automobile accident last June. The mother of the children died in May 1962.

In the case of Marvin Elwood DePuy, 16, Ellenville, charged with third degree burglary, unlawful entry and petit larceny, James Murray, counsel, moved for prosecution under the Youthful Offender, statute. Judge Mino reserved decision pending an investigation. Depuy is charged with an Ulster Heights act on June 30, 1965. Bail was continued.

The case of James Frederick McDonald, 29, also known as James D. McDonald, a former Thruway trooper, charged with fraudulent claim against an insurance company, had his case adjourned to Nov. 3 at 10 a. m. and bail was continued. Charles Saccoman appears for McDonald. Since the indictment was returned in Ulster County, a Dutchess County grand jury has also lodged a charge of theft of two motor bikes from Ed's Service Station at Hyde Park in March of 1964. Bail was continued.

The grand larceny, first degree and second degree forgery charge against Raymond S. Banks, 45, New Paltz, a former IBM employe, was marked ready for trial. Charles Saccoman appears for defendant who stands charged with making false expense vouchers between October 1963 and June 29, 1965 in the amount of some $20,000.

Bail was continued and the case of Howard Dawson, city, charged wtih possession of a switchblade knife was adjourned two weeks for motions on application of Francis Martocci, counsel. Dawson entered a plea of innocent. Adjourned to Nov. 12 at 10 a. m.

PHOENICIA NEWS

Library Fund Hits New High; Donors Listed

PHOENICIA — The Phoenicia Library's building fund thermometer has climbed to a new high of $8,168 as of Oct. 21.

Of this new total, $5,631 has actually been donated, in money or services valued in money, directly to the building fund by aproximately 50 friends of the library. The balance of $2,537 has been allocated from the library's operating budget to supplement the building fund during its crucial first years of essential conversion and improvement costs and debt retirement.

The library trustees recognize this fund as a tremendous achievement on the part of the donors and wish to thank them all again, and the following contributors for gifts not previously acknowledged publicly:

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Nakamoto, $5; Mr. and Mrs. Mark Hupert, $2; Mr. and Mrs. Asa Herzog, $10; Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Muhlich, $10; Bjarne Bergland, $100; Mrs. Ann Burgess, $10; Mr. and Mrs. Ludwig Kaphan, $10; Mr. and Mrs. William T. McCarthy, $5; Mrs. Dorothy V. Sackin, $20; Chichester Summer League, $10 in memory of Mrs. Nellie Shultis; Chichester Property Owners Association, $10; American Legion Post 950, $5; Louis Wabshinak, library sign valued at $25; Trebla Construction Corp., Library sign standard, valued at $50. A gift of $100 for children's books from Mrs. Howard O. Wood is also gratefully acknowledged.

Books and services are a library's primary business. Unlike commercial business, successful operation does not produce money to pay for books and services, salaries and maintenance.

At the present time, the Phoenicia Library receives money from four sources:

Taxes, membership donations, gifts and fund raising events. The Town of Shandaken has allocated $1750, an increase of $250, to the library for the year 1966, the Onteora Central School, $150, which brings the fixed income to $3,000. Memberships have been totaling about $1050 a year. The budget for 1965 is approximately $7500. The 1966 budget cannot be less. The difference must be raised or given.

The library is constantly exploring new ways to find additional monies. Circulation has increased by 50 per cent in the past year, evidence that the community wants more library services and clear indication that expenses for books and librarians time will have to keep pace. At the same time, the building fund stands only a little better than half way to its goal. Budgetary reserves have been used up in helping to put the new building in shape and retiring two thirds of the second mortgage indebtedness. The need for $833 to make the last payment on the second mortgage, due in October, 1966, is urgent.

Freedom to Protest Is Must: SUNY Head

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—Ultra-liberal and arch-reactionary college students must have the freedom to protest, although their views "may be repugnant to us as individuals," says Dr. Samuel B. Gould, president of the State University of New York.

"We cannot emphasize too often these days the necessity for complete and absolute academic freedom for the scholar and a similar sense of freedom for the lay citizen," Gould said here Monday at a luncheon honoring the presidents of colleges and universities in western New York.

Watch Today's

Although Lindsay, 43, has soft-pedaled his Republicanism, a victory or even a good showing in defeat could propel him into the front rank among future GOP presidential possibilities.

Beame, 59, won the nomination by defeating retiring Mayor Robert F. Wagner's choice, Paul R. Screvane. The comptroller received President Johnson's endorsement last week and Democrats hold a 7-2 registration advantage.

2.3 Billion Due in N. J.

In New Jersey, a turnout of 2.3 million of the more than 3.1 million registered voters is anticipated. Democrats claim a big lead for Hughes and hope to capture control of both houses of the recently reapportioned legislature for the first time in more than 50 years.

Dumont has attacked Hughes for refusing to dismiss Eugene D. Genovese, a Rutgers University professor who said he would welcome a Viet Cong victory in the Vietnamese war. Hughes said he disagrees with Genovese but that to fire him would be to violate academic freedom. Rutgers is a state university.

In Virginia, where Gov. Albertis Harrison is ineligible to run again, Godwin seeks to extend the 40-year control by the Democratic organization led by U.S. Sen. Harry F. Byrd. Story is likely to take votes of conservatives in both parties.

Record Turnout Expected

Both Godwin and Holton have made vigorous efforts to capture the Negro vote, and a record turnout of 550,000 voters is expected. Both Godwin and Holton are predicting victory. An overwhelming Democratic victory is expected in legislative races.

In Cleveland, Republican County Auditor Ralph J. Perk is trying to capitalize on a Democratic split to oust Mayor Ralph S. Locher.

In Philadelphia, Democratic Dist. Atty. James C. Crumlish Jr. faces a strong challenge from Arlen Specter, a Democrat turned Republican. Democrats have dominated the city's politics since 1949.

In Louisville, GOP Alderman Kenneth A. Schmeid is trying to be the second Republican mayor in a row after 28 straight years of Democratic control. Marlin Volz, law school dean at the University of Louisville, is his Democratic opponent. Republican Mayor William O. Cowger is ineligible for re-election.

Cavanagh Favored

In Akron, home town of GOP National Chairman Ray C. Bliss, Republican John Ballard hopes to become the first GOP mayor in 12 years. The Democratic nominee is Ray C. Sheppard, law director under outgoing Mayor Edward O. Erickson.

In Detroit, Mayor Jerome Cavanagh is heavily favored over Walter Shamie in a nonpartisan election while in Pittsburgh and New Haven, Conn., Democratic Mayors Joseph M. Barr and Richard C. Lee are strong choices over Vincent S. Rovitto and Joseph J. Einhorn respectively.

In New York State, Democrats are trying to retain control of the reapportioned legislature. In the only statewide contest, former U.S. Sen. Kenneth B. Keating is the GOP candidate for the Court of Appeals against Democrat-Liberal Owen S. McGivern.

Eight states have referenda on constitutional amendments or bond issues: Florida, Kentucky, Maine, New York, North Carolina, Ohio, Pennsylvania and Texas.

Drowned on Job

CORTLAND, N.Y. (AP) — Richard Teal, 24, of Richford, was drowned Monday when the earth-moving equipment he was operating plunged into a 20-foot-deep pool at a highway construction site near here.

DEATHS

CANBERRA, Australia (AP) —Dr. Herbert Vere Evatt, 71, Australian statesman, jurist and president of the United Nations General Assembly in 1948, died Tuesday after a long illness. Evatt headed the Labor opposition party in Parliament from 1951 to 1960. He also had served as deputy prime minister, foreign minister and attorney general.

NEW YORK (AP) — Emmett Rogers, 49, actor, producer and director, was found dead in his apartment Sunday. Cause of death had not been determined. Rogers was co-producer of the Broadway plays "No Time for Sergeants," "Dial M for Murder," "Tall Story" and "The Riot Act."

Charge Denied By Man Found At Fire Scene

City Judge Joseph D. Saccoman set Nov. 9 as trial date today for a 51-year-old homeless man arrested on an unlawful intrusion charge Monday night after he was found in a building where a fire broke out on lower Broadway.

Unable to post $50 bail, Edward Stahl, who said he had no home, was remanded to the County Jail. He denied the charge at his arraignment this morning in city court.

Police arrested Stahl at 23 West Strand, less than an hour after fire broke out about 8:30 p. m. at that address.

CHARGE DENIED — 2

Fire Department officials said that William Dwyer said he spotted a flicker of light in an upstairs window at the three-story brick structure owned and occupied on the first floor by the Dwyer Lighterage Inc., 608 Broadway. The second and third floors were vacant, they said.

Deputy Fire Chief Glyn Southard put in the alarm at 8:36 p. m. and upon their arrival, fire fighters traced the blaze to the third floor where a mattress was burning. They said that the fire extended into bedding, and was extinguished by a pump stream. It was necessary to ventilate the building after the fire was out, officials said. They said the fire was confined to the mattress and bedding.

Officials listed the blaze as being of incendiary origin.

Engine 1 and Truck 1 from Central Station responded with Salvage, Union, Cordts and Rapid Hose.

Schine Is Sued For $15 Million

NEW YORK (AP) — Former realty magnate J. Myer Schine has been sued for $15 million by his widowed sister-in-law and her two children.

Mrs. Martha R. Schine, claimed in federal court Monday that the financial potential of Schine Enterprises, Inc., was downgraded in order to induce the plaintiffs to sell their stock holdings for $5,332,000 — an amount described in the suit as "wholly inadequate."

Plaintiffs with Mrs. Schine are her son, Donald G. Schine, and her daughter, Mrs. Dorene S. Higier. Mrs. Schine is the widow of Louis W. Schine, who died in 1956.

Mrs. Schine named as defendants, besides her brother-in-law, his two sons, C. David Schine and C. Richard Schine.

The suit charged that in 1963 the defendants, in relation to Schine Enterprises, began "the creationo f fear in the plaintiffs' minds of the imminent insolvency and bankruptcy."

Asks Dismissal In Buffalo Suit Involving Schools

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—New York State contends there is "no federal question" involved in a plan to eliminate alleged racial imbalance in Buffalo's public schools.

And a state attorney requested Monday that a federal court suit, challenging the plan, be dismissed.

The suit, filed by Mr. and Mrs. Karl P. Offermann of Buffalo, asks that a panel of three federal court judges be convened to decide the constitutionality of the plan, drawn up by the school board at the direction of State Education Commissioner James E. Allen Jr.

Judge John O. Henderson of federal court reserved decision Monday on both requests.

Charles AB.rind, the state's attorney, said Allen was authorized to issue the order for the plan under state education laws.

"There is no federal question here," he said.

The Offermanns, who are white, contend that district boundaries were altered under the plan, which went into effect this fall, and that this was racially discriminatory to four of their children affected by school switches.

Await Jury Action

Charged with taking a motorcycle from the home of Joseph Trainor Jr., on South Street, Plattekill, Monday, two men were arraigned before Justice of the Peace John O. Beaver of Town of Esopus where they waived examination and were committed to jail to await grand jury action. Salvator Sanicola, 22, of Box 330, Highland, and William B. Atkins, 19, of Milton were charged with first degree grand larceny for the taking of the cycle valued at $800. The arrest was made by members of the BCI unit at Highland. Sanicola, born in Poughkeepsie, is a machine operator and Atkins, born in Marlboro, is a laborer.

Check Coal Fire

Firemen from Hopewell and Stormville, Dutchess County, battled for three hours Sunday night before bringing under control a fire in a coal pocket along the New Haven Railroad tracks off Beekman Road in the Town of East Fishkill. Passenger and freight trains were delayed. Origin of the fire is unknown.

Real Office Growler

YOSMINITE NATIONAL PARK, Calif. (AP) — Taxi drivers coming off shift in Yosemite Village heard a loud growling near their office.

They found a mother bear standing menacingly near a large, open garbage container. The men drove her back into nearby timber and looked into the container. Two eyes stared back.

The men placed a chair inside the garbage holder and backed away.

A brown bear cub crawled out, followed by another cub and then a third. The cubs ran into the timber, rejoined their lurking mother and disappeared into the forest Sunday night.

Pieta Returning

NEW YORK (AP) — The Pieta, Michelangelo's masterpiece in marble viewed by 27 million persons at the New York World's Fair, begins its 4,000 mile trip back to the Vatican today.

The priceless statue was moved Monday by truck and barge under heavy police guard to a Hudson River pier from the fairgrounds.

The statue, almost six feet high, will be lashed to a deck of the Italian liner Cristoforo Colombo.

The morning kindergarten children dressed in costumes. They paraded from their building through School II with their teachers, Mrs. Elizabeth Horvath and Mrs. Joan Castka.

In the afternoon, all children participated in a parade that has become a traditional event. The sheriff's car led the way and the parade wound around several streets in the vicinity of the school. When the children returned to the school, refreshments were served by the P-TA room mothers.

Civic Group Elects Officers

Elected temporary president of the new West Hurley Civic Association on Wednesday, Oct. 20 was Robert Kohler. The organization's first general meeting was held in the West Hurley firehouse. Also elected were Mrs. Jack Rose, secretary; and John O'Leary, treasurer. These officers will remain in office until the general election in January of 1966.

A proposed constitution was discussed by Jack Rose. He also stressed functions of an executive committee and definition of member-in-good-standing.

W. Jack Kahn discussed organization structure and potential responsibilities of committees.

In outlining the proposed purposes of a civic association, Arling Kalleberg stated these should include any problem of interest to the whole community. He stressed education, zoning, recreation, public service, fire, town organization. His recommended approach to the problems included study groups.

Halloween in W. Hurley School

Halloween activities in the West Hurley Elementary School started with a Halloween play last week, "A School for Scaring" was presented by Mrs. Lydia Hoover's third grade.

Mr. Kahn was named chairman of an organization committee which will submit a proposed constitution, define the organization structure, and present a slate of candidates for the January election.

Residents of West Hurley interested in working with he organization committee should contact Mr. Kahn or Mr. Kohler. At least three meetings of the committee will be called before January.

Mrs. Gerald Cohen was appointed membership chairman. Her campaign will include coffee hours.

Named publicity chairman was Mrs. W. Jack Kahn.

Membership dues in the Civic Association are nominal.

Gets Carnegie Grant

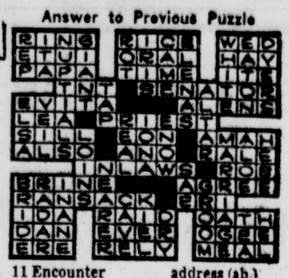

NEW YORK (AP) — The Carnegie Endowment for International Peace says it has given a grant of $30,000 to support the development of the International Studies Association in the next two years.

The ISA was founded in 1959 as a professional association of scholars and teachers interested in world affairs.

Generally the chief justice administers the oath of office to the President of the United States, but this is merely custom. Any officer authorized to administer oaths could do it.

Pact May Prove Boon for Reds

GENEVA (AP) — A new East-West agreement for the regular exchange of television news programs may prove a boon to Communist propagandists.

The agreement was signed here last month between representatives of West Europe's Eurovinion exchange network and Intervision, its East European counterpart.

None Held by West

Under the pact, news items are exchanged most days of the week on a regular basis.

No news items are withheld by the Western side, which offers worldwide items as well as West European events. The Soviet Union and its East European allies have eagerly snapped up such offerings as U.S. civil rights incidents and American student protests against the Viet Nam war.

In return the West is supplied with a stream of news briefs on Communist cooperation in Eastern Europe, tours of state-run farms and factories, Communist party congresses and visits from leftwing Western politicians.

In September 12 out of a total 96 East European offerings were accepted by West European networks. The West sends fewer total items but East Europe accepts a far larger percentage.

The European Broadcasting Union, controlling body of Eurovision has its headquarters here. An official said: "The main point of the agreement is that for the first time we are receiving a daily flow of news items from Eastern Europe.

See Great Step Forward

"While we are not too happy about the range and quality of offerings from the East, it is still a great step forward."

As a nonpolitical organization, the broadcasting union merely channels the exchange system. It has no control over the content of the news items from either side. It is up to each individual country whether it accepts an item for its newscast.

East European offerings are recorded by Austrian television in Vienna, closest Eurovision point to East Europe. Each West European network receives a list of items in time for the main evening news program. Eastern networks get a similar list from the West.

Thus far East Germany and Hungary have been the most interested Communist nations, participating in the exchange six days a week. The Soviet Union and Bulgaria take part twice a week while Poland and Czechoslovakia join the exchange four days a week. Romania has not yet overcome technical difficulties in accepting circuits at short notice.

The absence of news censorship in the West means that Communist governments can show viewers carefully selected items portraying the West in the worst light. On the other hand Western viewers get a selection possibly showing communism on its best behavior.

Hollywood News and Views

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — There are occasions when time seems to stand still on movie sets.

Like when Jane Russell was taking a bath in "Johnny Reno," her first full-length movie role in eight years.

I can flash back 14 years to another Western being filmed at Paramount, "Son of Paleface." Cecil B. DeMille, master of the bathtub scene, was there to offer technical advice, and costar Bob Hope made some pithy comments, too.

Still in Great Shape

Returning to 1965, I found Miss Russell in splendid shape. She displayed some black-and-blue marks she acquired in the rigorous Western, but she seemed to enjoy being back at work again.

"I was never wild about working," she admitted, "but I did enjoy the studio life. When you're working at a studio, it's like being part of a big family. Paramount was always my favorite studio, and I find that a great many of the people I knew before are still here."

Jane has always brought a studied casualness to her work, and not without reason. "Almost everything about my career has been accidental," she explains, "even back to its beginnings."

In the beginning, of course, was "The Outlaw" and the biggest publicity buildup that Howard Hughes could buy. His investment paid off, and Jane Russell became an international figure. She became the principal asset at RKO when the enigmatic multimillionaire attempted a big studio operation.

Remained Loyal

Jane remained loyal when other studios beckoned.

"My agent, Lew Wasserman (now head of the MCA-Universal-Decca combine), said I was crazy to sign with Howard again," she recalled. "But why should I have gone off to MGM and work with people I didn't even know? Howard had been very good to me, and I felt that I owed him something."

Her loyalty paid off in what is one of the dream contracts of Hollywood history. Right now she is smack in the middle of a 20-year contract that brings her $1,000 a week.

"That's why mother doesn't have to work," Jane purred.

But she has worked in recent years, touring the world with her own night club act or with Beryl Davis and Connie Haines.

"But the last tour I made with the girls was seven months, and that's too long," said Jane, who has been wed to Bob Waterfield for 22 years. "My kids are 16, 15 and 11 now, and I don't like to be gone too long. Pretty soon they'll be gone, and then where will I be?"

Reports Church Giving

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Council of Churches says more than $3 billion was contributed to Protestant churches by the members of 47 denominations in the United States and Canada in 1964.

The council said this represents a 45-year high in giving. The Presbyterian Church in the United States led the constituent members of the council with per-member giving of $114.61.

The Other Day

We read that in the mythology of almost every people around the world there is some account of how fire was brought to mankind. primitive man regarded it with religious awe. The Indian tribes of America, like the natives of Africa paid homage to ancestral fire spirits. Earliest Semitic tribes, Egyptians, and other Indo-Europeans also had their own fire gods. The religious ceremony of fire walking was practiced by many peoples in all ages and still prevails in places like the Fiji Islands and India. The priest leads a procession of celebrants barefoot across large stones which have been heated upon a fire bed. The walkers apparently suffer no burns or pain, and there has never beeen a satisfactory explanation of why this is so. But there is a satisfactory explanation of why our customers are so pleased, summed up for you in top quality, BOTTOM PRICE, AND TERRIFIC SERVICE!

DISTRIBUTING FAVORS TO WEDDING GUESTS

Q: I am to be married in two weeks. I have ordered favors (a small cup and saucer with our names on it) to give to the guests at the reception. I would like to know how these should be distributed. Should I hand them to the guests as they come up to congratulate me or should I put one at each place setting at the table?

A: It will be best to put one at each guest's place at table.

In the Dining Car

Q: When seated at table with a stranger in the dining car of a train, is it rude not to speak to one's table companion?

A: On a day-long journey, there is no need to speak to your companion at the table, beyond a possible "May I have the salt, please?" although there is no objection to an impersonal conversation on such subjects as the scenery, the weather, a book the stranger may have with him, etc.

On a long journey, if you happen to sit next to, or near, the same person for a number of meals, it is extremely bad mannered to sit in wooden silence.

Invited by Boy Friend's Parents

Q: My husband and I are planning to go to a Parents Weekend at the college our son is attending. The college is some 300 miles from here and as time is limited, we intend to fly. At my son's request, I have asked his girl friend to come along with us. Will you please tell me what our obligations are insofar as paying for her transportation, meals, hotel accommodations, etc.?

A: As you have invited her to go along with you, she is your guest and you should pay for her plane fare, meals and hotel accommodations.

YWCA Membership Meeting Wednesday; Open Forum Slated

Wednesday evening, Nov. 3rd, at 8 p. m. the YWCA membership is having a biannual meeting at the YWCA, 209 Clinton Avenue, this city, opposite Academy Green. All YW club members-at-large are expected to attend. It will be an open forum regarding the total YWCA program in relation to the community and also the national and international scope and program emphases of the organization.

Topics already scheduled on the agenda: Adult Program, World Fellowship, Christmas observances and Public Relations. Miss Frances Maxwell, Executive Director of the YWCA, will make a report to the membership. An inspection of the YWCA program and discussion on the related problems by the membership is vital to the effectiveness of the organization.

Prospective members interested in the operation of the local YWCA branch and its program phases are invited to attend the meeting.

The work and activities of the YWCA is dependent upon contributions from the public through the Community Chest and direct to the YWCA.

Democratic Rally Draws Crowd Here

More than 150 people attended a rally in White Eagle Hall, Delaware Avenue on Oct. 26 sponsored by the Ulster County Democratic Women's Club and the Kingston Democratic Men's Club.

A welcome was extended by Joseph Stenson of the Men's Club. During the brief business meeting, Mrs. Freda Martens, president of the women's group, named committee chairmen for the year. They are: Mrs. David Riley, membership; Mrs. Joseph McConnell, publicity; Mrs. John Fitzgerald, program, and Mrs. Jacob Myers, sunshine.

Mrs. Martens announced a meeting of the women's club will be held on Tuesday, Nov. 2 at 8 p. m. in the Governor Clinton Hotel. It was also announced that Mrs. Lincoln Crosby, Mrs. Jacob Myers and Mrs. James Howard will serve on the annual Christmas party committee.

James T. McCardle, Kingston City Democratic Chairman, conducted the rally program and introduced the city Democratic candidates. County and town candidates were introduced by Aaron E. Klein, Ulster County Democratic Chairman.

Chairman Klein predicted a Democratic victory in the city and county.

Refreshments were served and a social hour held.

Wakefield Drawings Are Displayed at New Penn Museum

The new William Penn Memorial Museum in Harrisburg, Pa., dedicated on Oct. 13, is featuring five black and white line drawings and four technical diagrams by Manville B. Wakefield, Sullivan County Historian.

The art work, from his new Delaware an Hudson Canal history "Coal Boats to Tidewater," has been enlarged into wall-sized mural panels for display in the canal history area.

Scenes illustrated are the Narrows-of-the-Lackawaxen, Poleing boats through Honesdale Basin, Honesdale Double Locks 37 and 38 and the Honesdale Basin just after the canal closed.

Technical illustrations show locking through operations, types of canal locks before and after 1850 and gate and boat details.

"Coal Boats to Tidewater" is scheduled for a late November publication.

food grant under Title III of Public Law 480.

Under this program, food is supplied through such U.S. voluntary agencies as CARE, Catholic Relief and World Church services. Most of the food is directed to children and all of it is a gift. U.S. authorities report that five million Egyptian children are receiving food under this plan.

Public Law 480 is the basic legislation in the U.S. Food for Peace program. The greatest help for Egypt would come under Title I. This provides for the sale of surplus U.S. food — mainly wheat and corn — for Egyptian pounds.

Since the inauguration 1952 of the Nasser regime, the United States has supplied $1.23 billion worth of aid to Egypt under Title I, U.S. aid mission figures show.

who had been employed as a salesman, had been convicted in Canada in 1961 for shopbreaking and given a suspended sentence. He was described as 6 feet tall, 192 pounds, with brown hair and blue eyes.

The thieves who robbed the Brink's office in Syracuse are believed by police to be the same persons who attempted to burglarize a Quebec bank with a cannon last Feb. 28. They were frightened off.

Investigators believe that the thieves purchased two antitank guns from an arms supplier in Alexandria, Va., had them shipped to a fictitious address in Plattsburgh, N.Y., then broke into the Plattsburgh express office at night and stole the guns.

Poet Stern Will Read From New Book at Gallery

Friday evening, Nov. 5 at 8:30 p. m. the Woodstock Artists Association will present Gerd Stern, reading poems from his new book, Afterimage. Admission will be free of charge and the reading will take place at the Association's Gallery, 28 Tinker Street in Woodstock.

Afterimage is Stern's second volume, including poems written since First Poems and Others, appeared in 1952. Copies of the new book have just arrived from England, where it was printed and published by Villiers Publications Ltd. In this country it is the first volume to bear the imprint of Maverick Books, Woodstock.

In addition to reading poems from his book, Stern will present the first public showing of a new slide-tape poem, "high-freethroughsafeway". This is part of a new program the USCO group is preparing for presentation at the Cinematheque in New York City, Nov. 17 and 18, and at MIT and Rhode Island School of Design early in December.

Collages, kinetic sculptures, and mixed-media performances by the USCO group, with Stern as a principal member have been seen in Woodstock at the Artists Association and the Maverick Gallery. The group has exhibited and performed at universities, museums and galleries all over this country and in Canada.

Copies of Afterimage will be available at the reading and will be autographed by Gerd Stern on request. The cover of the 87-page volume is a reproduction of a newsprint collage poem by Stern. There are still copies available of the hardcover edition limited to 150, each with an original collage by the poet, signed and numbered. Copies of the soft-cover edition are available at Catskill Book and Record Shop and either edition may be ordered by sending a check to Maverick Books, Box 703, Woodstock.

Unique Fashion Show Attracts Large Audience

A capacity audience attended the unique fashion show staged Friday night at the Woodstock Guild Gallery.

All garments were made of hand-loomed cloth and with the exception of some of the men's wear, all designed and tailored by the weaver or other craftsmen.

Berta Frey, Woodstock weaver who had many of her own fabrics on display introduced the show. Helen Davenport of Kingston was commentator. Over 40 fashions were shown.

Nearly all weavers were non-professional. An exception was Mrs. Kurt Sluizer who modeled a black silk dress from her own loom. Jean and Susie Goddard also modeled creations by Mrs. Sluizer.

Others participating in the show included Mrs. Wright Houghland, Mrs. William McVey, Priscilla and Pearl Evraets, Mrs. Frank Falknot, Grace Elliott of New Paltz, Mrs. James Chase of Saugerties, Marian Harding, Mildred Shelhirse, Mrs. Adelaide Gilbert, Mrs. Ellis Adams, Mrs. Virgil Van Wagenen and Gail Jennings.

Men who modeled were Douglas Brooks, John Grote, Ted Goddard, Frank Falknor Jr., Morton Brett and son Mark, Alfred Drayton.

Marilyn Goddard organized and arranged the program and showed six of her creations which she designed and tailored from Margot Taylor's fabrics.

Young models Cindy Paterson and Bonnie and Eric Brett showed dresses styled by Mrs. Brett from fabrics by Berta Frey.

"Woodstock dresses" were designed by Marylou Paturel, Norma Rhodewald and Marcia Haufrecht. Eve Kerhl modeled one of the creations.

Bearsville Dance

There will be a round and square dance at the Bearsville Lodge Hall Saturday, Nov. 6, from 8 to 12.

The dance is sponsored by the Methodist Youth Fellowship of Shady. Mr. and Mrs. Arthur MacDaniel are advisors for the group.

The public may attend. Music will be by Fred Russell and his band. There will be awards.

Freed After 15-Year Term In Jail Joins Record Firm

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — Little more than a month ago, Jasper McGowan was No. 5815 at the Maryland Penitentiary, serving 15 years for the $19 holdup of a cleaning establishment.

Today, McGowan, 40, a singer, is a free man and vice president of Hope Enterprises, Inc.

"I walked out into something I don't understand. I've been trying to orient myself after seven years — seven whole years in the penitentiary.

"I came out and found I had no links between past and present. Everybody I knew is gone. The girls I knew are married, have kids.

"Places where I used to hang out are torn down. Landmarks are gone. Today I was walking in a neighborhood I knew well and I was lost," the slender Negro said as he stood beside a tape recorder in the apartment of Betty Feldman, the realtor who was instrumental in getting his release. She also is president of Hope Enterprises, a small, independent record firm recently established.

McGowan's friendship with Mrs. Feldman began in 1962 when he sent her a hand-painted Christmas card after reading in a newspaper that she had been seriously injured in an automobile accident.

Sparked Correspondence

The card sparked a correspondence that grew to more than 1,000 letters and frequent visits.

McGowan was freed Sept. 21 after his attorney filed a habeas corpus proceeding citing a recent Supreme Court decision. Judge John E. Raine Jr. ordered a new trial, then released McGowan when the state's attorney's office decided to drop further prosecution.

"When the judge cut me free, I was a little stunned," McGowan recalled. "He did it so casually I didn't realize I was free."

A school dropout in the seventh grade, McGowan completed his high school education while in the penitentiary, became interested in woodworking and, at the time of his release, was foreman of the prison's woodworking shop.

He also was lead tenor of the Wayward Sons, a prison singing group.

"I could function as a single," McGowan said of his singing career, "and I could do it well. But I'd like to work with the Sons."

The Sons, however, are still in prison.

Russell Navarro Quarles, McGowan's former cellmate and lyricist on 450 songs to which McGowan wrote the music, has served seven years of a 20-year sentence for armed robbery.

John (Jelly) Madison has served 13 years of a 20-year sentence for robbery, assault and attempted murder, and Archie (Artie) Shaw has served seven years of a 20-year sentence for burglary and larceny.

The songs they wrote include ballads, populars, rhythm and blues, spirituals and some rock 'n roll numbers — all considered very acceptable commercially, says Mrs. Feldman. She is on the board of directors of the Robert Lindner Foundation, which makes awards in art, literature, and music to creative prison inmates.

The first disc to be published under the Hope label will feature vocals by the Wayward Sons, including McGowan.

McGowan still visits the prison so he can practice with the group, which already has cut one record professionally. He's also trying to secure their release on parole.

Sign Trade Protocol

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) — Yugoslavia and the Soviet Union have signed a protocol on trade for 1966 providing for a 25 per cent increase above levels foreseen for this year.

Is Named to Two National Groups By Legion Chief

GEORGE BRAGG

Announcement was made today of the appointment of George Bragg, Ulster County commander of the American Legion, to the national membership and post activities committee of the Legion by National Commander L. Eldon James.

Bragg's appointment was approved by the Legion's National Executive Committee during its meeting, Oct. 6-7, at Indianapolis. In receiving notification of his appointment by Commander James, Bragg, a member of Lloyd Post 193 of Highland, was given recognition for his service given to the Ulster County American Legion and Department of New York.

Bragg has previously served as commander of Lloyd Post 193 and as Finance Officer for the Ulster County American Legion. He has served on numerous delegations to Department of New York conventions. Bragg is a 20 year member of the veterans organization. His term expires at the close of the 1966 fall session of the National Executive Committee.

Pinocchio to Be Given in Schools Of Onteora Area

The children of the elementary schools of the Onteora District will have a treat in store for them when Nicolo Marionettes present a favorite musical adventure story, Pinocchio, on Nov. 4 and 5.

Pinocchio is being performed in the version that first appeared on Broadway, and was hailed by New York critics as a "miniature revolution in the puppet theatre," and "one of the most dextrous examples of puppet manipulation."

The play features a cast of jolly puppets including the lovable carpenter, "Gepetto," the villainous coachman, the cat and the fox, the warm blue-haired Fairy Queen, and the captivating hero, Pinocchio, as well as many others. Of course, the whale is there, too, in an underwater scene effected by means of magic "black light" which gives a phosphoresecent gleam to the creatures of the sea.

Pinocchio will be presented on Nov. 4 at the Woodstock Elementary School at 9:15 a.m. and at the West Hurley School at 1:30 p.m. On Nov. 5, the program goes to the Phoenicia Elementary School at 9:15 a.m. and the Bennett School, Boiceville, at 1:15 p.m.

The appearance of Nicolo Marionettes at Onteora is part of the continuing program of cultural and entertainment experiences provided children of the district.

Kind of Crowded

CLINTON, N.J. (AP) — The opening of the small game hunting season in Round Valley had been scheduled for Nov. 6. Then the State Fish and Game Division spotted an oversight.

Besides rabbits, pheasants and quail, hunters would have found heavy tanks, weapon carriers, helicopters and about 600 National Guardsmen holding weekend maneuvers. The state reset the opening for Nov. 8.

Principal Contests Listed In Off-Year Balloting

WASHINGTON (AP) — Here are the principal contests in today's off-year balloting:

GOVERNORS

New Jersey: Democratic Gov. Richard J. Hughes, 56, favored for re-election against GOP State Sen. Wayne Dumont Jr., 51. Democrats seek to gain control of reapportioned legislature.

Virginia: Democratic Lt. Gov. Mills E. Godwin Jr., 50, favored for governorship over Republican A. Linwood Holton, 42, and Conservative William J. Story, 55. Gov. Albertis S. Harrison ineligible for re-election. Democrats expected to keep overwhelming control of legislature.

MAYORS

New York City: Close contest forecast between Rep. John V. Lindsay, 43, running on the Republican and Liberal tickets, and City Comptroller Abraham D. Beame, 59, the Democratic nominee. Also in race: author William F. Buckley Jr., 39, Conservative party nominee. Democratic Mayor Robert F. Wagner retiring after three four-year terms.

Cleveland, Ohio: Democratic Mayor Ralph S. Locher slightly favored in four-way race. His opponents: Republican County Auditor Ralph J. Perk and two independent Democrats, State Rep. Carl B. Stokes, a Negro, and Ralph McAllister.

Louisville, Ky.: Republican Alderman Kenneth A. Schmeid opposing Democrat Marlin Volz, law school dean at the University of Louisville. GOP Mayor William O. Cowger ineligible for re-election.

Detroit: Mayor Jerome Cavanagh heavily favored over Walter Shamie in nonpartisan election.

CONGRESS

Ohio: Republican Clarence Brown Jr., 38, favored to win his late father's seat in 7th District against Democrat James A. Berry, 35.

OTHERS

Philadelphia: Democratic Dist. Atty. James C. Crumlish Jr. in close fight for re-election against Republican nominee Arlen Specter, a former Democrat.

New York State: Democrats trying to retain both houses of reapportioned legislature. Former U.S. Sen. Kenneth B. Keating is Republican nominee for Court of Appeals against Democrat-Liberal Owen McGivern.

Referenda: Statewide voting on constitutional amendments and bond issues in Florida, Kentucky, New York, Maine, North Carolina, Ohio, Pennsylvania and Texas.

Gotham Mayoralty Race Has Only Spark in Dull Election

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Today's off-year elections: for the most part, dull, and particularly in the governorship races in New Jersey and Virginia. The New York City mayoralty race is a little perkier.

In all three: big talk but few real issues. The outcome isn't likely to show whether the Republicans can bounce back from their 1964 catastrophe with Barry Goldwater.

Echo of Goldwater

Still, there's an echo of Goldwater conservatism in New York and Virginia where Conservative party candidates are running without any hope of winning. Their only aim seems to be a show of force.

In New York, where the Democrats have run the city two decades but got all split up in choosing Abraham D. Beame as their candidate, the Liberal-Republican candidate, Rep. John V. Lindsay, didn't even make a purely Republican try.

With a Liberal and Democrat as running mates, the lively, Yale-bred Lindsay has been making a "non-partisan" campaign against Beame, an accountant who rose through Democratic ranks to be city comptroller.

On issues there's little to choose between them. The third candidate in this contest, also Yale-bred, is the very conservative William F. Buckley Jr., author and publisher, whose role has been more heckler than candidate.

Picked on Lindsay

From the start he didn't have illusions about winning. If he did win, he said, he'd ask for a recount. He has concentrated upon picking on Lindsay who refused to back Goldwater last year.

If the Lindsay-Beame contest is close, the votes one or the other loses to Buckley may make the difference, thus giving the Conservative group the balance of power and hope for more of the same in future races.

If the active, hand-shaking Lindsay wins it will probably be more of a triumph of personality than support for Republicanism.

President Johnson backed Beame last week but he delayed his blessing so long he gave the impression of wondering whether he ought to.

Have No Ideas

In New Jersey the candidates are really at a loss for ideas.

There, where Gov. Richard J. Hughes, Democrat, is seeking re-election over Republican State Sen. Wayne Dumont Jr., the principal issue has been a college professor and Democrats expect a landslide.

Dumont made a big thing of attacking Rutgers University's Prof. Eugene D. Genovese, who said last spring he welcomes a Viet Cong victory in Viet Nam. Dumont wants him fired. But Hughes, while disagreeing with Genovese, says firing him would violate academic freedom. Rutgers is a state university.

In Virginia two conservatives are running against each other under the labels of Democrat and Republican.

The candidate of the powerful Democratic machine in a state where that party has won the governorship 20 times in a row is Lt. Gov. Mills E. Godwin Jr.

Last Win Was 1886

The Republican candidate, whose party hasn't won the governorship since 1886, is A. Linwood Holton. In Virginia both parties seem tired and complacent but the Democrats have a machine and the Republicans don't.

Even more conservative than Godwin and Holton, William J. Story of the Conservative party has been making his main pitch at the national government. He talked of freeing Virginia from dependency on Washington and made no predictions about winning.

In their final campaign statements Godwin cited the virtues of experience in elective office and Holton called for a fresh approach. And if that doesn't sound tired out, what does?

Wounded Twice In Viet Nam, Asks To Be Returned

FT. GORDON, Ga. (AP) — Sgt. Claude W. Spiva, 23, wounded in an ambush by the Viet Cong, wants to go back to Viet Nam as soon as he is able.

His mother doesn't agree.

"I don't want him to go back," said Mrs. J. D. McMillian of Decatur, Ga. "Of course it's up to him to decide, but it seems that once should be enough."

Planned to Leave

She said her son had planned to leave the Army when his enlistment ended in 14 months." Spiva would have six years in the Army at the end of his enlistment.

"I felt I was really doing something over there," Spiva said from his hospital bed. "I feel I can do a better job for the Army in Viet Nam than here in the United States."

The sergeant was wounded Oct. 8 when guerrilla forces ambushed a 1st Infantry Division truck convoy. He was riding in a truck with his squad when several grenades landed in it.

"The grenades killed two of my men, and in the course of the 20-minute ambush the company executive officer and a machine gunner were also killed," he said.

Wounded in Arm, Leg

Spiva suffered a bullet wound in his arm and received grenade shrapnel in his right leg.

He said U.S. troops must stay in Viet Nam "as long as we are needed to keep the Communists from taking over Southeast Asia. Most of the troops feel the same way. The ones that are griping are the ones that griped during basic and advance training.

"They will gripe anywhere," he said.

Spiva, referring to demonstrations against U.S. involvement in Viet Nam, said, "The troops in Viet Nam don't think too kindly about this.

"Most soldiers think as I do, that everyone should do a hitch in the service."

Youth Says He Was Forced in Kidnap-Slaying

HELENA, Mont. (AP)—David C. Walters, 18, says a companion from Fulton, N.Y., forced him to participate in the kidnap-slaying of a Montana lumberman last September.

Walters testified Monday mostly in his own defense, as his family and Keyes, Okla., neighbors sat in the courtroom.

Walters appeared before Dist. Judge Lester H. Loble to plea for mitigation of sentence — a maximum of hanging for first-degree murder or life imprisonment for kidnaping. He pleaded guilty to both charges.

A plea of innocent to the same charges has been entered by the companion Walters said beat him and threatened his life, Charles E. Corliss, 25.

The two are accused of kidnaping and killing Donald C. Hammer, 48, Sept. 14 on a lonely Montana mountain pass. Corliss is seeking a change of venue and no date has been set for his trial.

Sentencing of Walters will be Wednesday.

Walters said Corliss was seeking $150 to repay a girl friend in Conrad and ordered Walters to rob service stations and a cafe. Walters said it was Corliss' idea to rob Hammer. The pair netted $17 and a cigarette lighter.

Corliss ordered Hammer into a car and drove him and Walters to the place where Hammer was found dead, Walters testified.

President Plans To Vote Early

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson, like millions of his fellow citizens, votes today in an off-year election.

Locally the voting hinges around a plan to add two years to the present two-year terms of the governor and other state officials.

Johnson was said to be planning an early appearance at the polls in this small town — population 611 — where he grew up. Press secretary Bill D. Moyers said the chief executive would vote either at the Blanco County courthouse or at the nearby headquarters of the Pedernales Electric Cooperative which he helped found nearly 30 years ago.

The President has said nothing publicly about the biggest Texas-wide issue — whether to back the four-year-term idea promoted by Gov. John Connally, a longtime protege who will seek re-election next year. The state AFL-CIO opposes the plan.

A White House spokesman said Monday that Johnson, who is recuperating at his ranch near here from his gall bladder operation Oct. 8, was feeling very well.

The President was busy at his desk much of Monday, signing a raft of bills. He proclaimed Viet Nam and adjacent waters a combat zone, making servicemen there eligible for free air mail privileges and speedy parcel post service. These benefits wre authorized by one of the 28 bills he signed.

He also signed the School Disaster Air Act, committing the federal government to help rebuild schools damaged by hurricane, flood or earthquake.

Rita Johnson Is Dead at 52, Was Film Actress

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Actress Rita Johnson, 52, died in County General Hospital when her heart failed following a brain hemorrhage, a hospital source disclosed today.

An autopsy was performed, but cause of death has not been officially determined pending the results of laboratory tests, the coroner said.

Her mother, Mrs. William Johnson, formerly of Worcester, Mass., said her daughter collapsed suddenly Saturday morning in their West Hollywood apartment. She was treated at an emergency hospital and died Sunday night at General Hospital.

Miss Johnson appeared in 22 films, starting in 1937.

In 1940, Miss Johnson, a native of Worcester, married Stanley Kahn, a New York stockbroker. Their marriage ended a few years later in divorce and she never remarried.

Arrest Paltz Woman On Two Charges

Helen Morrow, 39, of Reggie's Inn, New Paltz, was arrested by Highland troopers at 12:35 a. m. today on two charges, one that she was driving while intoxicated and second she was an unlicenced operator. She was released in her own recognizance for appearance before Justice of the Peace S. Parks Glenn of town of New Paltz at 2 p. m. Nov. 3.

Troopers charged she was operating a car west on Route 299 at South Putt Corners Road, New Paltz, when the car crossed the east bound lane and struck a rail on the south side. Troopers G. W. Zappelo and Devine investigated.

Luci Also Mum On Permission

WASHINGTON (AP) — Luci Johnson replied, "You know I can't say anything" when reporters asked her about reports she was seeking her parents' permission to marry Patrick J. Nugent.

Earlier Monday, Nugent, 22, of Waukegan, Ill., told reporters, "My private life is my own and so is Luci's." He is employed here at the District Commissioner's Advisory Council on Higher Education.

The White House has neither confirmed nor denied the report that Luci, 18, a Georgetown University student, had asked permission from the President and First Lady to wed.

TRUCKING BOOMS—Railroads remain the largest carrier of intercity freight in the United States, but trucking is rapidly gaining and accounts for the greatest share of increase in total freight movements during the past decade. Other major carriers, waterways and oil pipelines, have held a relatively steady share of the market.

Four Major Ski Tournaments Planned at Rosendale Nordic

SPORTS

By CHARLES J. TIANO

Freeman Sports Editor

Major league managerial changes are being made all over the landscape, but the New York Mets keep Wes Westrum steaming in the hotbox.

A week ago, the Met front office said an announcement on the managerial situation would be forthcoming "within a week." The week has passed and no word.

The silence at Flushing, L.I. is deafning and it may be ominous for Wes, who certainly deserves a full shot at the manager's post, strictly on merit. But as one astute New York observer close to the Mets noted the other day, the Mets are openly shopping for a centerfielder to replace Jim Hickman.

At the same time Westrum has expressed great confidence in Hickman and said he would play him regularly in centerfield. It's that kind of thinking that might cost Wes the job, the man noted.

• Flotsam and Jetsam

If Westrum is retained, and the odds favor him at the moment, he can be expected to attempt a thorough reclamation job on first baseman Ed Kranepool. The high school bonus rookie sensation has failed to fulfill the stardom predicted for him. Kranepool, insiders say, has two problems: overweight and attitude . . . Buzzy Bavasi, the outspoken Los Angeles Dodgers general manager, is putting the knock on Leo Durocher hard these days. Buzzy claims the major league parade has passed Leo by. He hit Durocher in a particularly vulnerable area — his TV comments on the Game of the Week . . . Leo did say some foolish things and some of his on the spot predictions on team strategy came back to haunt him. The same thing happened to Phil Rizzuto, who stopped trying to be a soothsayer, played it straight and developed into one of the best in the business . . . As for demeaning Durocher's managerial ability, Bavasi is way out in left field. On the record, The Lip is one of the all-time greats.

• College Football Trivial

Talk about freeloaders! At the recent Purdue-Notre Dame game writers and broadcasters consumed 684 hot dogs (12 without mustard), 20 gallons of coffee, 35 dozen doughnuts, 44 cases of soft drinks. No mention of other thirst quenchers like milk, ginger ale, etc. . . . Bob Griese's feat of completing 13 straight passes against Notre Dame was almost, but not quite a record. Tom Myers of Northwestern hit 15 straight against South Carolina in 1962 . . . The longest wild pass from center in the early season was the snap by a Baylor center that the punter recovered after a 30-yard dash . . . And can 48 points by a losing team (West Virginia 63, Pitt 48) be anything but a record?

• Customer Always Write

Anytime you stick you chin out by claiming any two or three players are the best over a period of 35 years in any sport, somebody will take a shot at it . . . Ergo, the rebuttal from Vince DeLuca who took umbrage at the omission of Big Ed Weaver and Bill Kitsos from the all-time Kingston High school football greats . . . An old Maroon from another era mentioned Eddie Minasian, Bill Scully, Ross (Punk) Vogt and Watts Wheeler as superlative runners . . . Gentlement, they are all laudable nominations . . . Now the bowling rebuttal: "How come," a man asked, "you left Eddie Modjeska off the list of possible nominees for the bowling Hall of Fame?" Darn good question, we'd say.

• One Lost Golf Gag

The waning days of summer passed and this fellow decided to play a round of golf with his wife.

At No. 3 on a rugged course, he hooked his drive behind a maintenance shed and the necessity of wasting a stroke to get back to the fairway loomed.

Friend wife, however, noted that the shed had a door on each side and told the coach she thought he could play through the open doors and save a stroke. The shot struck the edge of the door, caroomed off, struck his wife and killed her.

Thirty days passed. Once more, of a Sunday, the coach played the same course and once more he hooked into the identical spot behind the shed. A companion suggested that he might open the doors and shoot through.

"Oh, no," said the man. "I tried that last time and took a nine on the hole."

Terrell Decisions Chuvalo, Meets Patterson-Clay Winner

TORONTO (AP) — Ernie Terrell still is a champion today, but the crown which sits atop his 6-foot-6 frame still doesn't make him the big man in the world of heavyweight boxing. He knows this.

Terrell won a unanimous 15-round decision over George Chuvalo Monday night to remain champion. But he still is only champion of the World Boxing Association, not of the world.

The man recognized by everyone but the WBA as king of the heavyweights — Cassius Clay — puts his share of the title on the line against Floyd Patterson Nov. 22 in Las Vegas.

Terrell was not a picture of jubilation in his dressing room after making the first defense of the title he won by outpointing Eddie Machen in Chicago last March 5.

"Everyone has always made fun of me, mostly because I'm a singer as well as a fighter," said the champion, who also is head of a musical combo. "I don't know why people get this laughing image of me."

In Line for Shot

His victory over Chuvalo probably won't change Terrell's public image immediately, but it could do so indirectly because it puts him in line for a shot at the winner of the Clay-Patterson fight — a fight which would give boxing a single heavyweight champion again.

The WBA threw the heavyweight division into its present Dr. Jekyl and Mr. Hyde state by stripping Clay of his crown for signing a return bout contract with Sonny Liston before their first fight in 1964.

Terrell, 26, hardly used his right hand at all in defeating the plodding, two-fisted Canadian.

The Chicagoan, who had a seven-inch advantage in reach, threw stinging left-hand punches to Chuvalo's face almost from the opening bell until the final gong.

Although there were no knockdowns, Terrell, who weighed 206, drew blood from Chuvalo's nose and cut him about both eyes.

The Canadian, who weighed 209, required 10 stitches to close two five-inch cuts over his left eye.

Referee Sammy Luftspring scored it 72-65, judge Fred Nobert called it 73-65, and judge Jackie Burke made it 69-65 for Terrell.

The fight was scored under the five-point-must system, in which the winner of a round receives five points and the loser four or less.

The action didn't end with the fight.

Terrell accused Chuvalo of repeated fouling. He pointed to an inch-long gash in his left eyebrow and he said it was caused by butting. He also said Chuvalo kept stepping on his feet.

Chuvalo Warned

The referee warned Chuvalo for butting and Terrell for thumbing in the eighth round.

Chuvalo was bitter about the outcome and said he was "willing to go to the Supreme Court (of Canada)" to protest the decision.

"I can expect a bad decision anywhere else, but not in my home town," said the 28-year-old Chuvalo, who spent 45 minutes behind the locked door of his dressing room shouting at his manager, Irving Ungerman, and his trainer, Bernie Glickman.

He blamed Ungerman for agreeing to fight in Toronto, saying the bout should have been held elsewhere.

A crowd of 12,500 at Maple Leaf Gardens paid $124,456.50 to see Terrell win his 14th straight fight. His record is 38-4. Chuvalo's record is 33-10-4.

Benkert-Bencher Bridge Winners

Ron Benkert and Dennis Bencher, Poughkeepsie, posted a 59½ per cent game to win first place in the Glenerie Bridge Club regular fractional point game at the Bridge Studios on Fair Street.

There was a tie for second between the teams of Mr. and Mrs. P. B. Lodge, Port Ewen and Mrs. Harold Rakov and Mrs. Irving H. Wheatcroft, Kingston, with games of 59 per cent.

Fourth place went to Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Pechloff, Kingston, with a 57½ per cent game.

The regular fractional point game is scheduled tonight, 8 o'clock, at the bridge studios.

U. S. Eastern Ski Squad in Opener Slated January 2

Four ski jumping tournaments will be staged at the new Olympic size Rosendale Ski jump during the 1966 season, president Rune Karlson has announced.

The first event is scheduled Jan. 2 when the entire United States Eastern Ski Jumping Squad will compete in the opener, after breaking training camp at Lake Placid.

The four events are:

January 2 — U. S. Eastern Ski Squad.

January 22 — Rip Van Winkle Ski Council jump.

January 29-30 — New York State Ski Jumping and Combined Cross Country and Jumping Championships.

March 6 — Ramapo Mountain Ski Club jump.

The United States Eastern Amateur Ski Association has granted official sanctions for the four major tournaments at the Rosendale Nordic jumping site.

Karlso reported that the Rosendale jump is now in the final stages of completion. Final grading and grooming will be finished this week. He said he had deferred public statements regarding the jump until he was assured of its final completion.

The Rosendale international site has incorporated in its design and construction all of the major modern improvements currently recommended by international ski jump designers throughout the world.

It is unique in that it will be the only skj jump in the United States that manufactures its own show. The takeoff platform is only 8 feet above the ground, but the hill is so designed that a ski jumper may safely travel through the air 260 feet without ever being more than 10 to 12 feet off the ground, with the hill following the trajectory pattern of the jumper throughout his flight.

The Rosendale jump was designed by Edmund Couch, chairman of the Ski Jumping Designating Committee of the United States Ski Association. It was constructed under the supervision of Carlson, Frank Klepis, Kenneth and Ernest DeWitt and the Board of Directors of the Joppenbergh Mountain Corporation, a cooperative group of 130 residents of the Town of Rosendale.

In the brief period of a year and a half, the Joppenbergh group in cooperation with the Rosendale Nordic Ski Club has made the Rosendale area the Nordic ski capital of the United States. It has already hosted a national championship in the form of the National Biathlon Championship held last winter.

All of the first class skiers in the eastern United States will compete in the Jan. 2 grand opening jump sponsored by the Rosendale Nordic Club. The Jan. 22 event is for member clubs of the Rip Van Winkle Council, the major supervising group of the sport in the mid-Hudson area.

Spartans Still Lead AP Poll

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

Michigan State is more firmly entrenched today as the No. 1 college football team in the country, and it looks as if the position will remain comfortable until at least Nov. 20.

That the day that the Spartans, closing their regular season, take on the Fighting Irish of Notre Dame, who have some deigns on the national football title themselves.

The Spartans have had rare success against the Irish during the past decade, but last year Notre Dame atoned for a lot of past beatings by smashing the Big Ten power 34-7.

Since losing to Purdue in the second game of the campaign, Ara Parseghian's South Benders have come fast, winning impressively over Northwestern, Army, Southern California and Navy.

They have the sort of running strength and defense that could give the leaders a run for it. They have moved to fourth in the standings.

Iowa, the State foe Saturday, has lost six games and won only one. Indiana, to be met Nov. 13, has won two and lost five.

The Spartans, crushing Northwestern 49-7 last week for their seventh straight victory, so impressed the special panel of sports writers and broadcasters that they collected 36 of the 50 first-place votes.

Comfortable Lead

This was enough to give them 481 points—a comfortable lead over Arkansas, which got 11 votes after drubbing Texas A&M 31-0. Nebraska, also unbeaten, got the remaining three first-place mentions on a narrow 16-14 squeak over Missouri and clung to third place.

The lower part of the Top Ten standings continues to undergo changes with each week.

Alabama, with a 4-1-1 record, is in fifth place, followed by Southern California. The four teams below them are all new—Georgia Tech, UCLA, Missouri and Kentucky. They replaced Louisiana State, Florida, Purdue and Texas, all of whom were beaten.

The Top Ten with first-place votes in parentheses, season records and total points:

1.	Mich. State (36) 7-0	481
2.	Arkansas (11) 7-0	457
3.	Nebraska (3) 7-0	392
4.	Notre Dame 5-1	362
5.	Alabama 5-1-1	209
6.	Southn. Calif. 4-1-1	201
7.	Georgia Tech 5-1-1	115
8.	UCLA 4-1-1	105
9.	Missouri 4-2-1	52
10.	Kentucky 5-2	49

Mills Wins Scholarship From Old Timers Assn.

Edward J. Mills, former Kingston High school varisty football and baseball player, has been named winner of the 1965 Old Timers Baseball Association athletic scholarship.

Cost of the $200 scholarship is shared jointly by the Old Timers and Willard Sahloff, a vice president of General Electric and member of the Old Timers Hall of Fame.

EDWARD J. MILLS

The scholarship is awarded annually to the Kingston High School athlete who has distinguished himself academically.

Mills, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Mills of 154 W. Pierpont Street, Kingston, played varsity football in 1963 and 1964. He made the second All-DUSO team in 1963 but was injured through most of the 1964 season. He played two years of varsity baseball and was first string catcher in his senior year. He was also a varsity wrestler for one year.

Hall of Fame Dinner

Mills will be honored at the Old Timers annual Hall of Fame Dinner on Thursday, Nov. 18, along with three nominees for the Hall of Fame and Joe Schabot, Kingston High School baseball Player of the Year in 1965.

The three old timers to be inducted into the Hall of Fame are: Robert Tierney, Eddie Burgevin and William R. Scully.

Ed Kranepool, New York Mets first baseman, and Arthur Richman, director of promotions for the Mets, will be the principal speakers.

The Old Timers dinner is open to the public and tickets may be purchased from the committee headed by Jack Dawkins.

Patton to Speak At SHS Grid Fete

Jim Patton, veteran defensive star for the New York Football Giants, will be guest speaker at the Saugerties Jaycees annual football banquet honoring the Saugerties High team. The event is slated Tuesday, Nov. 16, 7 p. m., at the Flamingo Restaurant.

Joe DiDomenico is chairman of the annual affair. Members are John Keeley, Joseph Comito, Wilson Edmunds, Robert Schnell, Harry Bubnack, Robert Roeber.

Tickets may be obtained from one of the above or from P. C. Smith and Sons Hardware, Saugerties Pharmacy and Michael's Barber Shop.

Saugerties Biddy League

Boys wishing to participate in the Saugerties Biddy Basketball league are asked to register on Monday, Nov. 8 and Wednesday, Nov. 10 from 7 to 8 p. m. at the Roger Donlon Auditorium. All players must register.

The league is open to boys in the Saugerties area between the ages of 8 and 12. Games will be played on either Monday or Wednesday beginning at 7 p. m.

Adults interested in assisting the league as coaches, scorers, timers or referees are also invited to participate. They are asked to contact league president Bud Turck.

KHS Freshman Team Bows, 13-7

Middletown's unbeaten freshman team took advantage of an intercepted pass and a fumble to nip the Kingston High frosh squad, 13-7, yesterday at the winners' field.

The hosts picked off a Kingston pass in the first quarter and ran it back 35 yards to a score.

Coach Frank Modica's eleven moved ahead in the third period when Dana Clearwater went 75 yards on a reverse and Mike Hoffman threw to Ken Gilligan for the extra point.

With two minutes to play, the winners recovered a fumble on the KHS 18 and scored from the two.

Kingston had the better of the statistics, gaining a dozen first downs to only three for the Middies. However, the locals fumbled seven times and lost the ball on six occasions.

Kingston has a 2-2-1 mark and will close its season next Monday at Newburgh.

EMPLOYMENT

NOTICE TO JOB APPLICANTS
The Kingston Daily Freeman does not knowingly accept Help Wanted advertisements from employers covered by the Fair Labor Standards Act if they offer less than legal minimum wages or pay wage differentials based on sex. Most employes engaged in interstate commerce or in the production of goods for such commerce must be paid not less than $1.25 an hour and time and one-half for hours worked over 40 in a week. Beginning September 3, 1964, most employes in certain large retail service, construction and other enterprises engaged in or producing goods for commerce must be paid not less than $1.15 an hour and time and one-half for hours worked over 42 in a week. The Act also requires equal pay for equal work for men and women. If you are offered less by covered employers or if you have questions concerning the Fair Labor Standards Act, call or write the U. S. Labor Department's local office at 881 Gerard Ave., Bronx N. Y., 10452 WYandotte 2-1235
IMPORTANT NOTICE: The New York State Law Against Discrimination and the Federal Civil Rights Act of 1964 prohibit discrimination in employment because of sex unless based on a bona fide occupational qualification. Help Wanted and Situation Wanted advertisements are arranged in columns captioned "Male" and "Female" for the convenience of readers and are not intended as an unlawful limitation or discrimination based on sex.

Tales of the Green Berets — By Robin Moore

Jets' Owner Praises Orange Star Little

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Floyd Little, says a man who should know, uses his blockers like a surgeon uses a scalpel.

In Little's case, though, the people he works on feel a little more pain.

Sonny Werblin is not one of those people. Werblin, owner of the New York Jets of the American Football League, gains only pleasure — plus a little frustration — from watching Syracuse's sizzling speedster.

"He's the best thing I've ever seen," Werblin enthused after seeing Little in action for the first time. "The way he picks up those blockers is the darndest thing I've seen. He uses them like a surgeon uses a scalpel."

Best Day Ever

What Werblin had just seen was the best day Little has had in college. He romped for four touchdowns and gained 248 yards over-all in Syracuse's 51-13 victory over Pitt last Saturday at Shea Stadium, the home of Werblin's Jets.

The performance gave Little 10 touchdowns in the last three games and 13 for the season. He also is averaging 5.5 yards a carry and is ahead of the rushing pace set by two former Syracuse stars, Jimmy Brown and the late Ernie Davis.

Whether he's racing down and across field on one of his 80 or 90-yard touchdown runs, or bursting through the line for a comparatively short score, the bowlegged Little constantly tries to set up his would-be tacklers for his blockers.

"You start in one direction and get everyone going that way," the fleet halfback explained. "You know how fast you are, and you know where your blockers are."

While Little frustrates opposing tacklers, he also frustrates Werblin — but in a different way.

The Jets have a good chance of having the worst record in the AFL this season and would then get the No. 1 draft choice for next year. But Little isn't eligible for the draft because he's only a junior.

"It would be almost worth it to finish last next year," Werblin said, "But it wouldn't be fair to our fans."

How much will Little be worth in the lucrative pro football market? Werblin declined to offer an estimate but said with a smile:

"I told him that on the 95-yard run he added $100,000 to whatever his price will be."

Woodlawn Drummond Roosevelt Winner

WESTBURY, N.Y. (AP) — Selectors of the trotting and pacing champions could well take a look north of the border when time comes to crown the 3-year-old pacing queen.

Balenzano was thought to have the championship wrapped up but she could do no better than fifth Monday night in the $50,639 Lady Maud at Roosevelt Raceway as Woodlawn Drummond from the Drummond Stables of Quebec posted her 12th victory in 18 starts this year.

"I thought from the start we would take it," said Keith Waples, 42-year-old trainer and driver of the home-bred daughter of Gene Abbe-chief maid.

Waples swung Woodlawn Drummond into the lead with one-quarter mile remaining and the Canadian miss quickly opened up a four-length margin. She was going easily at the end as Adios Alice came up fast to complete a Canadian sweep.

Adios Alice is owned by the Armstrong Brothers Co., of Brampton, Ontario. One and three-quarter lengths separted the pair at the finish.

Third went to Time Out, who trailed by another three quarters of a length with Bonnie Duane fourth and the fading Balenzano and her stablemate, Poplar Wave, sixth.

In earning $25,319, Woodlawn Drummond was timed in 2:04 2-5 and paid $7.

Trophy for Marciano

LONDON (AP) — Former heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano was given a guard of honor when he marched up to receive a trophy Monday at an Anglo - American sports dinner honoring him for his contributions to boxing.

—At Saratoga Raceway, Cedar Crest Flash won the Herbinger Trot and returned $5.60. The 8-year-old stallion, with a mile time of 2:08 4-5, beat Potomac Beauty, second, and Lady Burke, third, in taking the event by 1¼ lengths.

— At Batavia Downs, Bobby Reid took the $1,500 trot by four lengths to pay $13.60. Vinyl Hanover placed and Crystal Hanover showed. The top time was 2:11 4-5.

NFL Talking New TV Pact

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Pete Rozelle has been talking to the television networks about that new contract for the National Football League. The current deal with Columbia Broadcasting System ends with the 1965 season and championship game.

The next one may be a shocker.

Although the National Broadcasting Co. has a five-year pact with the American Football League and the colleges recently signed with the American Broadcasting Co., Rozelle will talk to all interested parties.

The current contract brings the NFL clubs a total of $14.1 million a year for regular season plus $1.8 for the chamionship game. Everybody expects the price to go higher.

The NFL already has accepted Atlanta as a 15th team for 1966 and will operate on a 15-week schedule with each team having one open date. This will increase the television potential. In 1967 the league will have 16 teams and each of the eight-team conferences will be split into two four club divisions.

This new format for 1967 will result in an extra week of playoff games, one on Saturday and one on Sunday, following the close of the regular schedule. Then the two winners will meet the following week for the league crown.

It is conceivable that the package will amount to more than $20 million a year for the 16 clubs when the deal finally is signed and sealed.

The NFL is researching about six cities for its 16th member. New Orleans and Seattle are believed to be the two most likely candidates but others are included.

Rogers' Adopted Son Dies in Germany

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Western entertainers Roy Rogers and Dale Evans have been notified that their adopted son, Pfc. John David (Sandy) Rogers, died Sunday in a U.S. Army dispensary at Frankfurt, Germany.

A spokesman for the couple said John, 18, became ill after dining with friends Saturday evening and later choked to death during a vomiting spasm.

He was the third Rogers' child to die. Roy and Dale in 1952 lost a 2-year-old daughter born to them, Robin Elizabeth, of complications following mumps. Last year another daughter, Debbie, 12, a Korean orphan they adopted in 1955, died in a bus crash.

The couple now live in Apple Valley, Calif., where they operate an inn. They have six other children, ranging in age from 13 to 22.

DAILY NEWSPAPERS are a GROWTH BUSINESS

Newspapers go and grow where people go

America is people on the move. Nearly 30 million new housing units have been built since the end of World War Two. One out of every five Americans changes his residence every year. Every third day another town or village makes the transition from "rural" to "urban" status.

As America moves and grows so, too, do its newspapers go and grow—performing their daily mission of providing the information that people need where the people are.

To serve the needs of people, newspapers spring up or spread out to adapt to the changing face of America. Today there are more daily newspapers published in the United States than at the end of World War Two. There are more small ones and more large ones. For example, there are 20 more newspapers in the "over 100,000" circulation class today than in 1945 and six more in the "over 500,000" class. What's truly significant, however, is that today daily newspapers have greater circulation, contain more news and more advertising, and employ far more people than ever before.

Newspapers are growing for one reason: Only the newspaper covers the news fully and in depth. There is no substitute for the daily newspaper.

For more information on why daily newspapers are a growth business, write for a free copy of the new booklet, "The Growth of the American Daily Newspaper," an economic analysis published by the University of Wisconsin.

Open your eyes...

the college problem won't go away

It won't until we do something about this crisis in higher education.

Some colleges predict that they soon may have to turn away qualified high school graduates.

If they do have to turn away these potential leaders, it will be because of shortages—in buildings, facilities, and especially qualified teachers.

But we need leaders, more and more. Leaders manage and make wise use of our manpower, resources and human skills.

Good leadership protects our high level in jobs, opportunities and living standards.

This is everybody's concern. Make it yours. Give to the college of your choice.

College is America's best friend

When Ty Cobb was in his prime, a fresh recruit pitcher popped up with the New York Yankees who claimed that he had discovered Cobb's weakness at the bat. He was given a chance to face the Detroit slugger when the Tigers came to New York. Cobb faced him four times and made four three-base hits. The rookie was just as cocky as ever when he strode into the clubhouse. "I told you I knew that guy's weakness," he announced. "He's got a weakness for three-base hits."

Klan Dragon Is To Be Cremated

READING, Pa. (AP) — A Ku Klux Klan leader who shot himself to death when his Jewish background became public is being cremated and buried today.

Daniel Burros, 28, the grand dragon of the New York Klan, shot himself twice Sunday in the apartment of a Pennsylvania Klan leader after reading a newspaer story revealing his Jewish origin.

His parents identified the body Monday.

Dr. Michael Austin, assistant Berks County coroner, ruled the death a suicide after an autopsy.

Police said the parents, George Burros, 71, and his wife, Esther, 62, returned to New York after identifying the body. They declined all comment to newsmen.

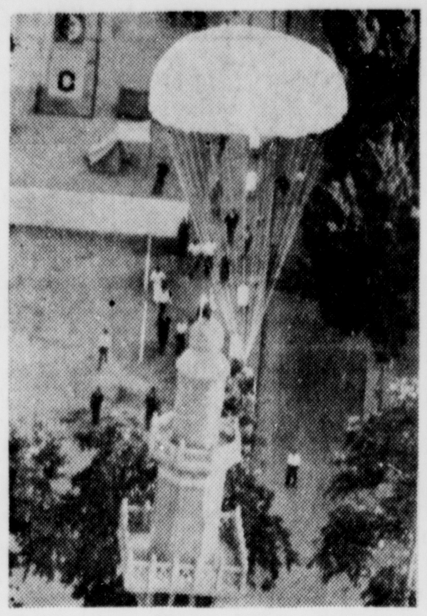

Police said they told them their son had been away from home for more than a year and they had been unaware of his connection with what they called "un-American" organizations until July 1964. This apparently referred to Burros' reported membership in the American Nazi party and the National Renaissance party, a New York right-wing group.

They told police they did not approve of his involvement with such groups, but could do nothing about it.

Police said they knew of no religious services planned and said the body would be buried in a nonsectarian cemetery which they declined to identify.

Lt. Walter A. Nawoczenski of the homicide department said the autopsy showed that one bullet entered Burros' chest and penetrated a lung, causing a hemorrhage. The second bullet entered the right side of the temple and was the fatal one.

Police said Burros' death occurred in the apartment of Roy E. Frankhouser Jr., 25, named by the House Committee on Un-American Activities as grand dragon of the Klan in Pennsylvania. Present besides Frankhouser, said the police, was Frank Rotella, 28, of New York City, identified as a New Jersey Klan leader, and Regina Kuiszewski, 21, described by police as Frankhouser's girl friend.

Reach Agreement

cilities without reimbursing the state treasury.

"We believe that the associations have made profits and accumulated surpluses far beyond that contemplated at the time of their formation," the auditors reported. "We suggest that the associations have grown to a point where their operations must be appraised and brought under the supervision of the State University, their pricing policies re-evaluated and their earnings controlled."

Paltz Unit Formed in 1950

The Albany and New Paltz Associations were formed in 1950. The Buffalo unit joined the State University in 1962 and the report covers the period since then.

The audits said the three schools covered in their report had been selected at random but the policy matters raised "are generally applicable to all State University of New York units."

Stone Ridge
Nov. 1, 1965

Editor, The Freeman

The time of the year has come when the leaves are covering the ground and the first thing we think about is "Well, we will burn them up."

Just stop and think. Have you the right equipment for such a purpose? Have you an incinerator or barrel with a mesh cover?

Leaves and papers, etc., should be burned in proper containers only and far away from any building so there is no damage to your dwelling or your neighbors. Have a garden hose close by.

There should be no open fires. If you have a large pile of brush or old wood to be burned see that it is in an area far away from a dwelling. First contact the fire department and the pile will be looked over and if satisfactory, permission wil be granted. The Fire Department telephone number is OV 7-2111. The chief of the department will make a check of the rubbish to be burned.

There will be no burning of leaves or brush along any town road, county road or state road.

Thanking you for your cooperation in the past and future.

Chief of Stone Ridge Fire Department,
JOHN ALBRIGHT

Coast Has Heat Wave

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Southern Californians, blinded by a week of heavy smog, now can barely see for all that light.

For four days last week, the smog was so heavy that smog alerts were declared—meaning that, if conditions worsened, industry could be shut down and traffic curtailed.

The Weather Bureau said nearly two weeks of 90-plus temperatures made October the second hottest on record with an average daily minimum of 73.1. The warmest October on record was in 1958, when the daily average high was 74.

Friends Chip in With $914 Taken From Restaurant

BOULDER, Colo. (AP) — Thieves entered a Boulder restaurant Oct. 10 and took $914 in cash.

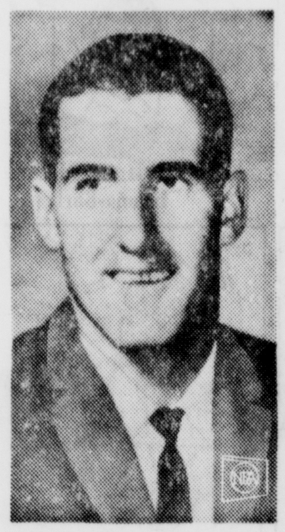

Owner Fred Shelton said Monday that he had received a check for $914, left on the counter. The money was raised by 10 of his friends, each of whom contacted 10 other persons. Each person contributed $9.14.

"It gives me a real lump in my throat to think the people would do this for me," said Shelton.

Seek Cause of Death

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Investigators sought today the cause of death of a 46-year-old longshoreman whose body was found buried under grain in a ship's cargo hold.

Police said Henry J. DuFrane of Buffalo had been helping to unload the grain from a Great Lakes ship, the George M. Steinbrunner.

Complete Mailing Of Medicare Kits

Working round the clock since September 1, Social Security Headquarters in Baltimore has completed the mailing of Medicare Information Kits to all of the 15½ million persons 65 and over on the Social Security and Railroad Retirement Benefit Rolls, George J. Habernig, district manager in Kingston reported today.

By now, all elderly social security or railroad retirement beneficiaries in Ulster and Green Counties should have received their kits and the enclosed application for the supplementary medical insurance part of Medicare, Habernig stated.

About 250 other older persons —those not on the social security or railroad retirement benefit rolls—have already been in touch with the social security district office in Kingston, he reported. But many others still need to take action to protect their Medicare rights.

Eight out of ten aged persons will be reached through the mass mailing, he noted. About one-third of those who will not be reached this way are receiving old-age assistance payments and will hear directly from their local welfare agencies.

Another third are still working full time and will need to file social security applications. About one million will also have to get in touch with their local social security district office.

The enrollment period for those who will be 65 or over before the end of the year closes March 31, 1966, Habernig pointed out.

The March 31 deadline is very important, he stressed. Everyone who is 65 or will be by January 1, 1966, must return the medical insurance enrollment card by that date—whether received in the mail or picked up at a social security district office, if he wants full protection when the program goes into effect July 1, 1966.

For the housebound, the district office will make arrangements to have a social security representative pay a visit to them at home.

The Kingston district office is located at 57 Albany Ave. The phone number is 338-7231.

Reader Seeks Advice on Major Market 'Swinger'

Q) "What is SCM Corp., and why has it so frequently been at the top of the list? Is there a split in the offing? Do you advise purchase?" A.P.

A) The last time I discussed this stock here was over a year ago, when it was selling at about one-third its present level. The tremendous activity this year has been due to a belief that SCM's recently unwrapped Coronastat 55 electrostatic office copier will lift earnings sharply.

Many investors feel that the copier will be competitive with the Xerox 914. I do not believe they are entirely correct, since the Xeroz machine uses any kind of paper and SCM's requires a specially coated paper. It is true, I believe, that SCM has a fine new copier which may make marked inroads into the business of some other producers, although the action of Xerox does not indicate any worries on the part of investors as to that company's growth slowing down.

I believe a split may be possible, since the directors propose to increase the number of shares from four million to 10 million. I continue to feel that SCM, like other "swingers" in this market — such as Polaroid and Xerox — should be bought only where considerable market risk can be assumed.

Q) "I own seven shares of Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul & Pacific five per cent preferred. I figure its value to be around $585. Am I correct? Would you recommended that I sell this stock?" I. C.

A) Your stock sold recently at 86, which would bring you $602 —minus commission and taxes. Your net figure is approximately correct. The proposed merger with the Chicago & Northwestern should greatly benefit the St. Paul.

Your shares yield a high 5.75 per cent, the dividend appears secure and I see no reason for your to dispose of your holdings.
